COVELESKIE AND ALDRIDGE PITCH

PITTSBURG, Oct. 8.—Following is the play-by-play account of the second game of the world series:

FIRST INNING. WASHINGTON—Rice grounded to Wright. Stan Harris went out to Grantham unassisted and the Pirates were out of a bad hole. The fans cheered for several minutes. It was a fine exhibition of pitching by Aldridge when in difficulty. NO RUNS, TWO HITS, NO ERRORS.

PITTSBURG—Peck threw out Moore, running in fast to get his slow roller. Carey struck out on three spit balls. Coveleskie kept the ball around Carey's knees. Stan Harris threw out Cuyler at first. It was Stan Harris' first assist in the series. NO RUNS, NO HITS, NO ERRORS.

SECOND INNING. WASHINGTON—Aldridge kicked on a called ball on Judge, claiming it should have been a strike. Judge hit a home run into the right field stands. He caught a fast curve on the end of his bat and the ball sailed high and far. Joe Harris shot a fast grounder back. Wright-foe Grantham, Joe Harris was thrown out stealing. Smith to Moore. Yde began to warm up for Pittsburgh. Barnhart took Bluege's high fly. Traynor threw out Peck, Grantham making a glove hand stop of a wide throw. He saved Traynor an error. ONE RUN, TWO HITS, NO ERRORS.

PITTSBURG—Barnhart sent a fly to Rice. Traynor came in for a cheer as he stepped to the plate. Bluege smothered Traynor's hot smash and threw him out. Wright singled to right. Grantham showed the customers in the boxes with foul balls. Wright went to second on a passed ball. Stan Harris made easy work of Grantham's grounder. NO RUNS, ONE HIT, NO ERRORS.

THIRD INNING. WASHINGTON—Ruel fanned, being fooled by Aldridge's drop ball. Coveleskie also went out on strikes. Rice slashed a line single to center, which Aldridge had to duck. On a balk by Aldridge, Rice went to second. Wright threw out Stan Harris at first. NO RUNS, ONE HIT, NO ERRORS.

PITTSBURG—The sky became overcast and a pall of smoke appeared. Smith got a line single to left and this started the Pittsburgh crowd howling. Aldridge forced Smith, Coveleskie to Stan Harris. The Senators had a double play in which Stan Harris dropped the ball and got Smith out. Coveleskie struck out, hitting at a spitball which struck in the dirt before the plate. Carey singled to right. Aldridge stopping at second. Cuyler forced Carey, Peck to Stan Harris. NO RUNS, TWO HITS, NO ERRORS.

FOURTH INNING. WASHINGTON—Wright made a line stop of Goslin's seeming hit and then got him by a quick throw. Barnhart robbed Judge of a seeming hit with a running catch. Joe Harris singled off Traynor's glove. It was a line smash and Traynor went into the air after it. Cuyler took Bluege's long fly. NO RUNS, ONE HIT, NO ERRORS.

PITTSBURG—The crowd now began to clap in unison, calling for a rally. Barnhart sent a high fly to Rice. Peck threw out Traynor. Wright got a home run into the left-field stands in front of the score board. The crowd howled as the score was tied. He hit a fast line single. Grantham fouled to Ruel, who picked the ball off the bat. A spectator, ONE RUN, ONE HIT, NO ERRORS.

FIFTH INNING. WASHINGTON—Peck singled over Wright's head. Ruel singled to center. Peck stopping at second. Yde warmed up again. Smith went to the box to talk to Aldridge. Aldridge took Coveleskie's bunt and threw to third, but failed to get Peck. It was a sacrifice hit and a fielder's choice. Oldham was warned up for Pittsburgh. The bases were filled and none out. The Pittsburgh infield played in. Aldridge took Rice's grounder and threw to Smith and Peck was out at the plate. The bases were still filled.

Cecil S. Burger, private, first-class, a passenger, leaped out, alighting on his face. He suffered only minor injuries.

Lieut. Wheeler was preparing to land the airplane, a De Havilland 4-B. The accident was the first at Chanute Field for months.

COL. MITCHELL REFUSES TO TAKE STAND IN INQUIRY ON SHENANDOAH

Declines to Accept Service on Subpoena After Naval Court Overrules Objection to Being Sworn.

CITES POSSIBLE ARMY COURT-MARTIAL

Declares in Letter to Adjutant-General Counsel Advises Him Rights Might Be Prejudiced.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Colonel William Mitchell refused today to testify before the naval court investigating the airship Shenandoah disaster.

After he had objected to being sworn before the court under the order of the army directing him to appear, a formal subpoena for his appearance was issued today by the naval body. Judge-Advocate Foley delivered it in person and Mitchell refused to accept service under advice of his counsel. While the court was in executive session determining its course after Mitchell had objected to taking the oath, Representative Frank R. Reid of Illinois, his attorney, made public a communication which the Colonel sent yesterday to the Adjutant-General of the Army.

Army Is Notified.

Advised officially that Col. Mitchell had refused to appear, the court directed the judge-advocate to communicate that fact to the War Department, which originally had ordered Mitchell to come before the court and give testimony.

Immediately after the army firer had taken the stand, Admiral Hilary P. Jones, president of the court, explained that his presence was desired so that he might be questioned concerning statements credited to him regarding the Shenandoah disaster. The Admiral produced a small Bible, requesting that the Colonel be duly sworn in accordance with the regulations. It was then that Reid made his objection, saying Col. Mitchell desired to read a brief statement before any effort was made to place him under oath.

Colonel Mitchell appeared in full uniform with serried rows of decorations on the tunic of his uniform.

From the line of argument which Representative Reid advanced, it was assumed the statement was connected with the possible court-martial proceedings by the army growing out of the statements made by the Colonel and upon the basis of which his presence before the court was requested.

Admiral Jones said the witness could make no statement until the oath had been administered. Representative Reid insisted that the Admiral Jones announced that the court was closed whereupon the hearing room in the Navy Building was cleared of the crowd, consisting largely of women, while the court considered the situation.

Col. Mitchell's Reasons.

Col. Mitchell's communication to the Adjutant-General said: "I hereby request that the orders from the Adjutant-General dated Oct. 7, 1925, that I report to the naval court of inquiry at 10 a. m., Oct. 8, 1925, be revoked.

"My reasons are as follows: (A) I have been notified by the War Department that court-martial proceedings are impending against me.

"(B) I am advised by my counsel that it would be inconsistent with my rights and might prejudice my case should I be required to testify before the naval court on matters liable to be the subject of inquiry in possible court-martial proceedings.

"My counsel advises me not to testify at this time before the naval court, but to request a delay until final action shall have been made on my court-martial proceedings.

Thrown off its schedule program the naval court adjourned until 11 o'clock tomorrow, and meanwhile high officials will determine what is to be done. The naval court was inclined to hold that Col. Mitchell, having appeared under orders from the Adjutant-General, was obliged to testify, and that the next move was to get him to the War Department. Col. Mitchell directed him only to "appear" before the navy court. Counsel for the naval court said that body had power to impose penalties on service men who refused to take the oath, the maximum being $500 fine and imprisonment for six months, but the court will hold off until it learns the inside of the circumstances surrounding Col. Mitchell's orders.

EXPLOSION IN LACLEDE GAS BUILDING; SCORE REPORTED HURT

'RED' MAULIFFE HITS 'SAWDUST TRAIL' ON A BET

"I Was Hooched or I Wouldn't Have Done It," Says Baseball Announcer on Morning After.

"Red" Mauliff, hod carrier and baseball announcer, who last night "hit the sawdust trail" at the revival conducted by Howard S. Williams, lay evangelist, in the tabernacle on Delmar boulevard, west of Hamilton avenue, today declared that he was "hooched" at the time, and that he had no intention of returning, as he had announced, to complete his conversion.

"Red" called up the Post-Dispatch this afternoon from somewhere on Easton avenue. "Some friends of mine bet me I wouldn't pull that stunt," he said. "I wouldn't have done it. A firing squad couldn't march me back to that place tonight. Who is this guy Williams that wants to come here and run this town, anyhow? I think he better have stayed in Mississippi."

An Unsteady Advance.

To those who attended the tabernacle meeting, "Red's" unsteady advance down the aisle had the appearance of a genuine, if not a noble, repentance. It seemed so to the Evangelist Williams, who, after a whispered talk with Mauliff, asked him to speak.

"I'm Red Mauliff," he announced in a voice that was easily heard in the rear rows. "Everybody in St. Louis knows me. I'm the old announcer at the baseball parks, and the biggest drunkard in St. Louis. I want you people to pray for me, so that I can get what this man has got. Williams and others, including a minister who has long known "Red," prayed with him, but he said he "couldn't quite make it." The religious workers took it to mean that he had been unable to reach what he and they would consider a satisfactory conversion.

"I'm going to keep away from booze," he promised, "and I'll clean up and come back here tomorrow night, and see if I can't make it."

McAuliffe, in 1916, startled a well-dressed group of business men, who had gathered at the St. Louis Club to discuss military preparedness by walking into their meeting in his hood-carrier costume, with mortar on his shoes, and announcing that he would be in the preparedness parade. "And the 187 other members of the hood-carriers' union will be in it, or settle with me personally," he added. When the parade was held, Red was unavoidably detained by a construction job, but his spirit of preparedness went marching on.

His Military Efforts.

He joined the First Regiment, but when the declaration of war came, he decided that he would prefer the navy. He was then 36 years old, a year over the age limit, but the navy took him. He became ill at an Eastern training station, and was discharged. After his recovery, he joined the Canadian Expeditionary Forces, but found the British atmosphere not to his liking and left the service at Toronto. This resulted in a sojourn in jail after his return to St. Louis. He was best known to baseball fans as announcer at Robison Field, the Cardinals' old park, but he has served at Sportman's Park also.

The first man enrolled by Evangelist Williams as a new convert was Charles Jones of 2816 St. Ferdinand avenue, who went forward at last night's meeting, shortly before McAuliffe did. Two men also went forward to "reconvert" themselves, and one of them declared that he was a church member, but had been led away by a love for gambling.

Williams purposely makes it hard for converts to come forward as compared with the methods of other evangelists. He does this so as to increase the likelihood that the converts will "stick." Most evangelists, before asking for a show of hands, or for persons to come forward, request those in the audience to bow their heads in prayer. But Williams asks men and women to "hit the trail" with everyone openly looking at them.

"Son, go work in my vineyard," was the evangelist's text last night. "Where are the church members this Wednesday night?" he asked. "Are they here, or at prayer meeting in their own churches, or are they at the races?"

PROPHET CHOOSES HIS 1925 QUEEN IN RADIANT SETTING

Crowns Miss Maud Miller Streett, Whose Mother Held the Same Honor 23 Years Ago.

That hearty old monarch, the Veiled Prophet, chose a queen in a splendid setting at the Coliseum last night. And for the first time in his long and absolute reign, he chose the daughter of a queen—Miss Maud Miller Streett, daughter of Mrs. J. Clark Streett, who 23 years ago, as Miss Maud Welis, was crowned at the ball of 1902 in the Merchants' Exchange.

Mrs. Streett was present last night. It is likely that there lifted through her mind the thought that, year by year, the Prophet wields his scepter with greater exaction upon his subjects.

For a certainly there were outstanding features of last night's ball—brilliance of gowns, novelty of entertainment, smoothness of program, lack of jamming, though the crowd was as large as usual, and decorations. The Coliseum was gorgeous. It never looked so well.

Showmanship Remarkable.

An ancient yellow canopy with a sky of benign blue. It may have been the fringe of stately urns, blighting with dahlias in the height of a propitious season. Perhaps there was more carpentry, such as balustrades for the staircase, the costumes of his Kravé were new. The lighting was mellowed. Glaring motion picture spots were gone. Freshness everywhere. Even the drab walls had been painted in gay tints. And the ascending key of color in gowns heightened the brilliance.

All of these, no doubt, but it was the stunning grandeur of the Prophet's dais that, in the doubled language of the showman, "knocked 'em dead." Showman's language fits, for last night's ball also was remarkable for showmanship.

From year to year the Prophet's dais has been shifted about the floor in search of a spot that would afford the best view to the largest number. But always there was resulting a feeling of lessened decorum effectiveness and last night the dais was back at the south end of the building.

Shimmering Curtain.

It was larger than usual. It filled one-fourth of the arena, in a sweeping semicircle—reaching from canopy above to floor below—completely shutting off the end of the building—was a shimmering, greenish-silver curtain.

It was not taut, but hung with a slight ripple, over which danced red and blue and green light rays. It listened like some gossamer creation of a fairy's loom. It gave forth a radiance as though reflected from the cover assembled before it. Skirting the curtain's base was an ornamental balustrade, punctuated at intervals with 12 pedestals of white marble, dotted with packed white dahlias and white roses.

The pedestals and urns, filled now with colored dahlias, extended out onto the arena floor, completing a quadrangle through which processions came and went during the evening.

The throng was placed in the center directly in front of the curtain. Stretching away for 50 feet to the rear, the throng was placed in the center directly in front of the curtain. Stretching away for 50 feet to the rear, the throng was placed in the center directly in front of the curtain.

Flanking the throne along either side of the dais was the Court of Love and Beauty, which, when assembled, presented a company of some 150—the maternally and maidenly beauty of St. Louis against a background of the grotesque, vividly clad masqueraders without whom the Prophet never ventures from his other realm.

Over this setting there towered eight majestic Corinthian columns, placed along the curtain. They gave to the throne room all the loftiness of a vaulted old world coronation hall.

CHARGES ILLEGAL USE OF BOYCOTT BY STEAMFITTERS

President of Heating Firm Tells of Being Forced to Cancel a $12,000 Order for Material.

One of the trump cards to be played by Attorney-General Otto in his antitrust suit, soon to be brought against the Association of Master Plumbers, the Heating and Piping Contractors' St. Louis Association, the plumbers and steamfitters' local unions of St. Louis, and the plumbing and heating supply houses, will be an attempt to show that the unions openly operated in restraint of trade by illegal use of the boycott.

Among several complaints made to the Attorney-General that the unions employed this means to attain the ends of trade unionism is that of J. D. Hicks, president of the Kupperle-Hicks Heating Co., 117 Washington avenue. His company was compelled to cancel a $12,000 order for material with the N. O. Nelson Manufacturing Co. of St. Louis because the Steamfitters' Local Union ordered members and the contractors not to handle Nelson material.

Official Record of Order.

The Attorney-General will not have to depend on intangibles to prove this point, as there appears to be an official record of the draft order, and Hicks and officials of the Heating and Piping Contractors' Association have indicated they would present the facts when called upon to testify.

Hicks related that he placed an order for the material with the Nelson company early in August, for installation when called for at the Paul Brown building, now under construction at Ninth and Olive streets.

When time came for installing the heating pipe, Hicks was about to call on the Nelson company for delivery of the first part of his order, when his foreman, a member of the union, notified him that the union had officially decided not to permit any of its members to handle material purchased of the Nelson company.

Notice Read at Meeting.

"A day or two later," Hicks related to a Post-Dispatch reporter, "the Heating and Piping Contractors' Association of which our firm is a member, was officially notified by the union that union men would not be permitted in future to handle material purchased of the Nelson company. The notice was read at a meeting of our association by our secretary, who was notified by the union that union men would not be permitted in future to handle material purchased of the Nelson company."

Hicks denied the Heating and Piping Contractors' Association was in a combine with the union or supply houses. "We have no trade understanding with the supply houses," he said, "and as to the union, we are more or less at their mercy."

At the office of the Steamfitters' Union it was said the secretary, the only official authorized to make a statement for the union, is in Atlantic City, N. J., attending the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, and will not return for two weeks.

Officials of the N. O. Nelson Manufacturing Co. would not discuss the situation, except to remark that they had no understanding or agreement of any kind with the contractors or the union and could not account for the action of the union as reported by Hicks.

The Nelson company manufactures plumbing and heating supplies and sells wholesale to plumbers and heating contractors and registered plumbers and steamfitters, regardless of association or union affiliation.

Law Covering Boycotts.

The Attorney-General has stated that he will base his suit on three sections of the anti-trust statutes of Missouri, and it is his opinion that

FIREMEN RESCUE MANY PERSONS WITH LADDERS; FLAMES FOLLOW BLAST

Company Workers Quoted as Saying, "Ammonia Pipes Let Go"—Many Cut and Bruised Near Scene of Explosion.

An explosion on the balcony of the second floor of the 10-story Laclede Gas building, at the northeast corner of Eleventh and Olive streets, at 2:04 p. m. today, injured a score or more of persons in and outside the building, shattered plate glass windows and caused great excitement in the downtown district.

Within a few minutes after the blast employees of the gas company dashed and cut their faces and hands blackened by the explosion, began appearing outside the building. More than 20 were led out of the building, and many of them were placed in taxicabs and sent to hospitals.

At that time, it could not be learned whether anyone had been killed outright or fatally injured. On the first and mezzanine floors, all the windows on the Olive street front were broken. The blast was felt in other buildings along the street, and goods were shaken from shelves.

General Alarm of Fire.

A general alarm of fire was sounded. Firemen at once began raising ladders to the windows, and the cries of persons within were heard. At windows of upper floors, men and women appeared, thrusting their heads out as if choked by the smoke within, and shouting for rescue. Some gesticulated in a manner which seemed to mean that they would jump if not reaching at once.

Flames at the rear of the first floor indicated that the blast had occurred there. The flames looked like gas flames.

The gas company has demonstrated various gas appliances on its first floor, but employees were unable to explain the cause of the explosion.

Little could be learned from the persons taken from the building, as those not suffering from cuts appeared to be half-stunned.

"Blast of Ammonia Tank."

A man who said he was connected with the engineering department of the gas company said that the explosion was that of an ammonia tank. This seemed to be borne out by the fumes from the building. Firemen and policemen covered their mouths and noses with towels.

"An ammonia tank let go," was the explanation given by the engineering employee. The gas used on the floor is piped as to other buildings, and there is no large tank of gas.

Employees on the fifth floor said, after the blast, they saw heavy flames shooting up a small shaft in the rear of the building, as high as the floor they were on.

Strong odor of ammonia was noticeable, and many employees, who escaped down the front stairway beside the main elevator shaft, were affected.

The employees on the fifth floor said the flames shot up the shaft almost at the moment the blast was heard. Many of the persons working on other floors, in the vicinity of the shaft, were cut and bruised.

TOY HATCHET TAKEN FROM GIRL'S THROAT

Bronchoscope Used to Remove Small Piece of Tin in Delicate Operation.

A toy hatchet, accidentally swallowed by Florence Stafford, 11 years old, at Fort Smith, Ark., was removed from her esophagus in a delicate operation at the Missouri Baptist Sanitarium last night.

The hatchet, made of tin and about an inch and a half long, was given to Florence by a girl friend as they sat in a sixth-grade class at their school Tuesday morning. She placed it in her mouth just before the noon recess and suddenly swallowed it. It caused no great pain, but she could not eat, and an X-ray disclosed the hatchet resting in her gullet.

At the suggestion of Fort Smith surgeons, who were not equipped to perform the operation, the girl was brought to the hospital here by her father, D. R. Stafford, a Frisco switchman, arriving at 6:30 p. m. yesterday.

The instrument used in the bronchoscope, perfected by Dr. Chevalier Jackson of Philadelphia. A thin brass tube, with a tiny electric lamp at the bottom end, was inserted through the mouth. Then a miniature pair of forceps was manipulated through this tube to grasp the hatchet and bring it up. The operation was performed without anesthetic, and Florence later said it did not hurt.

VICTIM APPARENTLY BECAME CONFUSED

J. H. Kilpatrick, Driver, Says Aged Man Stepped From Behind Another Car Into His Path.

An elderly pedestrian, apparently confused in the passing of two automobiles on a drive in Fairground Park, which he was attempting to cross, stepped in the path of one of them and was killed about 6:30 o'clock last evening. He was Herman Behrens, 65 years old, a watchman, who lived with his daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. William Gerdes, at 4301 Grove street.

The injured man was taken to City Hospital by another motorist, and died in a few minutes from a fractured skull and internal injuries. He was struck by a Ford truck operated by Joseph H. Kilpatrick, 29, a shoe store manager, living at 4866 Lehigh avenue.

Kilpatrick said he was driving west in the drive, as another automobile approached coming east. The pedestrian, he said, stepped from behind the eastbound car into the path of his truck. The driver furnished food for appearance before the coroner.

LIQUOR FOUND BURIED 6 FEET UNDER GROUND

Police About to Give Up Search When Small Boy Advises Them to Dig.

It began to look as if Police Captain Stinger's nose was lying to him. All yesterday afternoon he and his men had searched for whiskey in and about the grocery store of Adam Fanette, at 7600 Reilly avenue, and had found nothing.

Just as the Captain and his men were beginning to believe they didn't know liquor when they smelled it, a boy walked into the yard behind the store and gave them the information that sent them digging six feet down into the yard. There they found what they were looking for.

Stinger long had suspected that liquor was being hidden in Fanette's store. Anyone with a nose could tell that. Even Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Fanette, who is particular about issuing search warrants, issued one when Stinger's men told him how strongly the place smelled of liquor.

Boy Gives the Tip.

And so Capt. Stinger and a squad of policemen rummaged through the store. Finally after two hours of work Stinger was standing in the yard when a small boy came in.

"Be you're lookin' for booze," he said, "Good guess, kid," responded Capt. Stinger.

"Well," said the youngster, "you're standing on it. Get a shovel and dig."

Capt. Stinger reported that his men dug until they had reached a depth of six feet. There they found a ten-gallon and a 25-gallon keg, both filled with what the policemen reported was moonshine whiskey.

Tube Led to Basement.

From the kegs, two small rubber tubes led in the direction of the cellar. Stinger found that by removing a stone in the foundation one might take up a tube, suck on it a moment to start a siphoning action, and then draw from the kegs. Fanette was arrested and the liquor seized as evidence.

Resort Raided After Two Men Are Beaten and Robbed.

The report of Mrs. Max Traynor, 4021 Forest Park boulevard, was raised early today upon complaint of two men, one of whom declared he had been beaten and robbed after he had refused to pay $50 for two drinks.

The complainants said they were Leo J. Melvin, sales manager for the Oklahoma Distributing Co. of Muskogee, and Harry J. Brown, salesman, of Peoria. They said they were directed to the Traynor place by a cab driver.

Melvin said he demurred against paying $50 for the drinks, of which he and Brown had not yet partaken. A man named "Fred," called in by the woman who served the drinks, beat him up and took $50 from his pockets, Melvin declared. Mrs. Traynor was arrested in the subsequent raid and released on bond. No liquor was found.

Her husband is a notorious gangster, now serving a term at Chester (Ill.) penitentiary.

Probationary Patrolman Abbott looked into the saloon of Fred Traynor at 1532 Tower Grove avenue last night in time to see Fusco hand a flask to a customer. He and Patrolman Frank H. Palmer, arrested the customer, who said he was Harry Spillman, of 4255 Hunt avenue. Spillman admitted, according to the patrolmen, that Fusco had handed him the bottle and said he paid 50 cents to Charles Scherman, Fusco's bartender, for the liquor. Fusco and Scherman were arrested.

The raid was one of ten made on saloons yesterday. A total of 86 arrests was made during the day, including 24 men held as general robbery suspects.

CHRISTY MATHEWSON, FAMOUS PITCHER, DIES

Former Star of Giants Succumbs to Tuberculosis and Pneumonia.

By the Associated Press.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Oct. 8.—Christy Mathewson, one of the greatest pitchers of all time, is dead in his mountain camp.

A hero of the World War as well as of the diamond on which he was the first big college star, he died late last night of tuberculosis and pneumonia, the result of being gassed while a Captain in the chemical warfare service in France.

"Big Six," as he was known because of his stature, battled intermittently with tuberculosis for five years. He went to France in 1918 after three years as manager of the Cincinnati Reds. Returning as coach of the New York Giants with whom he had played for 17 seasons, he was taken seriously ill in 1920 and retired to Saranac Lake.

The battle for health apparently was won in 1923, and he became president and part owner of the Boston Braves. He caught cold on the spring training trip of the team last spring and was forced to return to his camp. Less than a month ago his physician reported that he was holding his own. The end came unexpectedly.

His wife, who had nursed him during the years of his illness, died in his bedside. The only child, Christy Mathewson Jr., is at Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa. The funeral will be held at Lewisburg, Pa., Saturday, his body will be taken from Saranac Lake tonight.

Mathewson followed baseball through the newspapers virtually to the end. Last fall he attended the New York world series games between the Giants and Senators and wrote daily articles for a newspaper syndicate. Invalided, he turned to checkers. Players from all over the country came to match their skill against his.

It was a dramatic coincidence in baseball that Mathewson should have passed on at a time when Walter Johnson reached one of the most brilliant peaks of his career in winning yesterday's world series game. Those two men have stood out above all others in the past quarter century of mound achievement.

Mathewson won fame before Johnson's advent to the majors 19 years ago, for it was in 1905, just 20 years ago that he established a world's series record that has never been equaled by shutting out the Athletics in the three games.

Year after year, Mathewson and Johnson were recognized as the most consummate pitching artists of their respective leagues. It was one of the regrets of baseball men that liquor was being hidden in Fanette's store. Anyone with a nose could tell that. Even Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Fanette, who is particular about issuing search warrants, issued one when Stinger's men told him how strongly the place smelled of liquor.

$25,000 Liquor Fines Paid To U. S. in Two 'Field Days'

Eighty-Six Defendants Take Advantage of Opportunity to Plead Guilty—Some Take Pauper's Oath and Go to Jail.

By the Associated Press.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Oct. 8.—Eighty-six defendants took advantage of the opportunity of pleading guilty before U. S. District Judge Davis today, and taking a lighter fine than would have been theirs on conviction, have netted the Government cash fines totaling about $25,000.

Yesterday Judge Davis heard 42 pleas of guilty and assessed a total of $16,800 in fines. Approximately $12,000 was paid in cash. The remainder will be served out by the officers who will take the "pauper's oath" and discharge their obligation by spending a month in jail.

On Tuesday 44 of the 55 defendants on Judge Davis' liquor docket entered pleas of guilty. A total of $20,400 in fines was assessed, of which $14,200 was paid in cash.

The last remaining liquor charge on the District Court docket against Peter Grouski, once characterized by a county grand jury as a notorious law violator, was stricken from the docket yesterday. Grouski had pleaded guilty more than two years ago to two companion charges and was understood at that time that the third charge would be dropped.

In allowing the case to be stricken from the docket Judge Davis remarked that he knew the understanding under which Grouski entered his plea and approved the action of the United States attorney in dropping the last case.

Eight Defendants Fined Total of $1200 in State Court.

In Court of Criminal Correction yesterday, eight defendants in State dry law cases were fined a total of $1800 upon pleas of guilty. Provisional Judge Grodzki fined five defendants $200 each while Judge Gayer assessed $200 penalties upon three defendants.

Those fined by Judge Gayer were named as follows in the information: Mike Kovich, 3701 Chouteau avenue; James Kelly, 4044 North Grand boulevard; Robert Branfield, 4123 Chouteau avenue. In Judge Grodzki's court the defendants were: Charles Barni, 533 Ewing avenue; Harry Barnhill, 2122 Cass avenue; Henry Garavaglia, 4252 Clayton avenue; Louis Messinger and Walter Tucker.

Master Plumbers' Association and the supply houses, compelling them to sell supplies to Walsh. In deciding the case in favor of Walsh the Court of Appeals, then composed of Judges C. C. Bond, Shepard Barclay and R. L. Glode, gave the following opinion:

"There can be no question that the agreement between the respondents (the association and supply dealers) is an illegal conspiracy and that its effect is to inflict a civil wrong upon plaintiff, and he is entitled to injunctive relief."

The Court held that the evidence at that time did not support allegations that the Master Plumbers' Association was an illegal organization.

In 1913 the Hogan-Sunkel Heating Co. brought suit for $45,000 damages against members of the Heating and Power Contractors' St. Louis Association, the name of which has been changed to Heating and Piping Contractors' Association, alleging that members of the association conspired through the association and with the steamfitters' union by unlawful means to restrict competitive bidding, and to obtain unearned profits.

The Court sustained a demurrer of the defendants that there was no cause for action. Walsh took the case to the St. Louis Court of Appeals, which reversed the lower court, whereupon the lower court granted an injunction against the association.

In 1901 Joseph E. Walsh, a contracting plumber, brought suit in Circuit Court against the Association of Master Plumbers, charging the association was in league with the supply houses to prevent the sale of plumbing supplies to any but members of the association.

FATALITY MARKS FIRST RACE OF AIR MEET

Manufacturer Killed When Home-Built Monoplane Crashes at Mitchell Field.

By the Associated Press.

MITCHELL FIELD, N. Y., Oct. 8.—A fatality marked the opening of the national air races here today when a home-built monoplane, piloted by Clarence D. Chamberlin, crashed, injuring him and killing Lawrence Bunnell, an airplane manufacturer of Hartford, Conn., who was with him as passenger.

The plane was entered in the first race of the day, a free-for-all event for two-seater planes.

Chamberlin's first lap over the 5-mile course was recorded at 85.4 miles an hour. At this point one of his wings crumpled and the machine crashed into a mass of wreckage about half a mile from the starting point. Five other planes were in the race.

The plane had attracted considerable attention because of the peculiar construction, which included struts running from the upper section of the fuselage to brace the wings. Military observers at the field remarked that it appeared "right-wing heavy" as it took off.

Crashing from a height of about 100 feet, the machine struck in a private yard in Hempstead.

Chamberlin was taken to the Post Hospital suffering from internal injuries and bruises. He will recover.

Howe of Keysport, N. J., piloting a Thomas-Morse plane, won the two-seater race. His time for the 100-mile course averaged 102.9 miles an hour. Second place was won by E. P. Lott of Garden City, L. I., flying a TMSBV modified plane, with an average speed of 100.7 miles an hour. Third place was won by Jack Laase Jr. of Dayton, O., in a Hartzell FC-2, whose time was 94.3 miles an hour.

Clarence Darrow received his nightly mention, when the evangelist said, "I imagine if Darrow had been living in Christ's time, Judas Iscariot would have gone up to him and said, 'Say, Clarence, we've got a plan to crucify that fellow Jesus Christ. And I imagine old Darrow would have said, 'Go ahead, boy. Slip me five, and I'll clear you.'"

"Jazz music is nothing but a thing to stir up passion," Williams said at another point. "The high society dances of today are worse than those in the houses of prostitution when I was a boy. I know. The modern dance was invented by a libertine."

TO OPEN HOSPITAL FUND DRIVE

FINE UNDER TRAFFIC
REGULATION SET ASIDE

Case One of 54 Appeals From Police Court Decisions Up Before Judge Gayer.

Fifty-one appeals from Police Court decisions were docketed before Judge Gayer in Court of Criminal Correction today for review by him. Most of them were traffic cases.

A fine of $5 and costs assessed against Joseph Ahearn, lawyer, of 4822 Milant avenue, was set aside after the Court had been told that Ahearn was charged with violating a Traffic Council regulation in parking three hours in the congested district. The regulations have been held unconstitutional in Circuit Court.

"You are bound to lose in an argument with a woman and you've lost in this court, too," Judge Gayer told Martin C. Lohmann Jr. in affirming a fine of $10 for leaving the scene of an accident.

Testimony showed that a machine driven by Lohmann had struck Mrs. Josephine Von Ruppert of 3423 Pestalozzi street, at Broadway and Walnut street, June 26 last. There was evidence to show that Lohmann left his name and address before driving away. There was some dispute at the scene, however, and Mrs. Von Ruppert later had him brought into Police Court.

A $25 fine assessed against Walter Andis of Madison, Ill., for speeding was cut to $5 because Andis showed he was honest. Patrolman Palmer, who arrested him Sept. 19 admitted he had not seen the speedometer on his automobile tested and wasn't sure it was accurate. But Andis admitted he was traveling a bit fast and the order for the compromise fine was entered.

Listened for Burglars Half the Night

Many times, perhaps, you have awakened in the middle of the night and found yourself shivering with fear. Your heart thumped in your chest, and you felt as if you were suffocating. Probably you rushed to the window to gasp for breath. Then you tried to fall back to sleep, but couldn't. Every little noise made you think some one was trying to get in the house, so you would awake listening for burglars under the eaves.

Each attack is nearly always due to poisonous gas in the stomach which forces its way against the heart and interferes with the circulation. Dr. H. F.
Bauman's Gas Tablets usually relieve all distressing gas troubles in a few minutes, and if taken regularly will prevent any return of the trouble. They tone up the stomach and help to give permanent relief from indigestion and gas.

Go today and obtain a package at Bauman's Gas Tablets at 20c a box from Dr. H. F. Bauman, or any other drug store. Price $1.00 a box.

$30,000,000 COAL MINE MERGER PLANNED

Seventy Mines Within 50-Mile Radius of St. Louis Involved in Project.

A merger involving 70 Illinois coal mines in the "inner group" district within a 50-mile radius of St. Louis, out of which a new $30-000,000 corporation is expected to emerge, is being completed today at a meeting of operators with Herbert E. Bell, Chicago coal magnate, and his attorney, Henry R.
Platt, at the Missouri Athletic Association.

Eight of the largest local operators, with wide facilities for distribution in St. Louis, were in conference yesterday and a plan was submitted whereby all parties to the proposed merger will receive a large cash payment for their properties and a stock interest in the new company.

Chicago capital largely will finance the deal, and, while the Bell & Zoller interests will be dominant, Platt said that St. Louis representation in the management of the company would be material.

"The merger will make for steadier operation, economy in production and distribution and a probable reduction in coal prices with a larger profit than individual operators are now able to make,"
Platt said.

Platt traced the present difficulties of operators to the number of small mines which sprang up when coal was in great demand during the war. He said the net result was that 120 working days constituted the best average the mines were able to make in one year.

Under a consolidation such as is proposed the working days are likely to be extended to 260 per year, he said.

H. F. McDonald of the Meteor Coal Co. here has taken a leading part in arranging the conference.

During 1924 the Post-Dispatch printed 107,521 Housers, Platts, etc.

THREE other St. Louis newspapers combined.

CONGRESSIONAL PARTY INSPECTING LAND BANKS

Inspection at Louisville First to Be Visited by Group of Senators and Representatives.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—In response to an invitation extended by the 15 Federal land banks, a doc-en members of Congress left Washington last night for a tour of inspection of the institutions.

Included in the party are Senators McLean, Connecticut; Edge,
New Jersey; Gillett, Massachusetts; Stephens, Mississippi; Glass, Virginia, and Weller of Maryland, and Representatives McFadden, Pennsylvania; Strong, Kansas; Penn, Connecticut; Wingo, Arkansas; Steagall, Alabama, and Stevenson of South Carolina.

Commissioner Cooper of the Farm Loan Board, in announcing the tour, said it was intended that the legislators, all of whom are members of the Banking and Currency committees of their respective houses, should be able to gather first-hand information about the operation of the banks, which have been in existence eight years. He declared that there was no thought of suggesting legislation to the visitors, but it was hoped that they would be able to gather a background that would be helpful to them in later dealings with legislation affecting the banks.

The party first will visit the bank at Springfield, Mass., and then will return to Baltimore, tomorrow. The westward trip will be started Saturday night, the first bank to be visited being the Louisville institution. Some of the Eastern Senators will leave the party at that point, but Senators Norbeck, South Dakota; Sackett, Kentucky, and Bratton, New Mexico, will join the tour and continue with an itinerary that will carry the group to all of the other land

banks.

British Fascists Denied Authority.
LONDON, Oct. 8.—Attempts of British Fascists to enroll as special Constables have been abandoned in Liverpool, Wolverhampton and Manchester. A letter from the Chief Constable of Manchester to the commander of the Manchester Fascists was read at a meeting of the Manchester City Council yesterday. In declining the offer of the Fascists to join the special constabulary, the Chief Constable said he was confident the citizens of Manchester were as ready now to help the police in maintaining order as they had been in the past.

PROPERTY VALUATION BASIS OF TAX APPEAL

Attorney Advances Argument of Depreciation in Case Involving $713.41.

Typical of the differences arising between taxpayer and tax collector in the assessment of Federal income taxes is the argument over valuation of property in the appeal of Clarence E. Pope, an East St. Louis attorney, heard by the United States Board of Tax Appeals at Federal Building yesterday.

Pope has owned brick and frame stores at the northeast corner of Broadway and Collinsville avenue, East St. Louis, an important transfer point, since 1914. Pope claimed depreciation on the buildings for $15,211 based on a valuation of $112,000, which was augmented to $14,000 by certain improvements. A revenue agent set an arbitrary valuation of $10,000 and the Commissioner of Internal Revenue held that the figure claimed by Pope was in excess of the real value.

Only $713.41 in taxes is involved in the appeal but a principle for subsequent taxation is on the balance.

Income of $100 a Month.
A syndicate in which Pope held a one-sixth interest bought the property for $70,000, but then, Pope testified, he paid $10,000 for the other five-sixths and assumed a first mortgage for $30,000, a second mortgage for $15,000 and a $5,000 note. He paid off the indebtedness. Total rental income at first was $375 a month but now is more than $1,000.

"It has been reported the whole property only cost me $40,000," Pope related, "but the improvements alone were worth $40,000 when I bought it."

Cross examination by Government counsel would show that the value of the buildings depended on their location in the city and not on their real worth. Pope declared that the corner store, now a candy and fruit shop, had been built by a brewery as a saloon shortly before he made the purchase, but the Government tried to make him admit that the brewery had only effected alterations of an old structure.

In support of Pope's valuation his lawyer called real estate men and Charles Miller, an East St. Louis contractor. An affidavit by Miller, appraising the buildings at $17,543, as of a few months ago, was introduced, but he admitted that the value would have been nine or ten per cent less in 1914, which is the time on which the valuation must be based for taxation. The Government sought to show that Miller's knowledge of the value in building costs was faulty.

Realty Dealer Testifies.
Stephen D. Sexton, a real estate man, declared the buildings were worth about $32,000 in 1914 but limited his appraisal to $10,000 since 1910. However, he said he passed the corner daily, chairman J. M. Sternhagen of the board asked Sexton what the buildings would have been worth if they had been sold in 1914. Sexton said the proposition was unusual but, after debate, answered "about $12,000," indicating he meant if the buildings were moved to a new location.

E. Schneidermann, a real estate dealer, said the buildings were worth $20,000 to $25,000 in 1914; the whole property $30,000 and the lot alone $50,000.

The Government called another real estate man who, however, failed to qualify as an expert on valuation of stores. Pope's wife has a three-fourths interest in the property and it was agreed that her similar appeal would be submitted on the same testimony. The board is hearing a group of local appeals, which will be decided later at Washington.

Chairman of Tax Appeal Board Describes Its Activity.
Activity of the United States Board of Tax Appeals was described by the chairman, J. M. Sternhagen, in a luncheon address at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, in which he related that 7,447 appeals had been filed with the board from the time of its organization, July 16, 1924, up to Sept. 30, last, and 7,447 of those had been disposed of.

Those disposed of include those finally determined, some of which were dismissed voluntarily and some where the Government reached agreements with taxpayers. The board has been working at full force only nine months.

Following its practice of making appeals easier for the taxpayer, the board has three of its 12 members sitting for a time in St. Louis to hear local appeals, which the full board will decide at Washington. The board was created, its head related, so that appeals could be given judicial hearing by an impartial body, as informally as possible, but with enough formality of evidence to assure proper consideration by Federal courts in event of appeal from the board.

The number of cases before the board has exceeded the number of civil suits in the same period in eight of the busiest Federal district courts, Sternhagen said. More than $1,200,000 of Government revenue is tied up in tax appeals now before the board, he stated, adding: "Although the board is the youngest infant in the family of Government institutions, we think there is none more busy or conscientious than it; the members are working nights and Sundays."

W. C. Landon, a board member, in a short talk, said the board was created because the Government wanted to see if taxpayers couldn't be made a little more popular. "They picked 11 men who knew something about taxes," he went on, "and then reached over to Kansas for me, to get a man who knew how it felt to pay taxes. Taxes involved in appeals before us have ranged from $1.82 to $10,000,000 or $10,000,000."

C. R. Arundel, third member of the board here, was introduced but did not speak.

Gave Forged Order for Shotguns.
A young man, who claimed to represent a store in Vandalia, Ill., obtained two automatic shotguns from the White Hardware Co., 708 North Third street, yesterday on a forged order, the firm reported to police later. The weapons were valued at $112.50.

Skalla and Mrs. Matta were arrested in their office at the Buder Building last Saturday and, following their release on bond here, announced that they would fight extradition to Illinois. Application for regulation papers was made by St. Clair County authorities Tuesday. Neither Mrs. Matta nor Skalla would comment on their sudden decision to give themselves up. Their bond was fixed at $2,000 each and was signed by Finis P. Ernest Jr., of East St. Louis. When arrested Skalla is said to have told police that he was working for Ernest.

The charges against Skalla and Mrs. Matta resulted from their promotion of a subdivision in East St. Louis, known as Alta Sita. Skalla is alleged to have assured purchasers of lots in the subdivision, chiefly persons of foreign birth, that they would be given employment in a glass factory to be erected by Henry Ford on a site adjacent to Alta Sita. The Ford glass factory is a myth, according to investigators, as are some of the other enterprises Skalla is said to have told purchasers would be started near their homes.

Two Charged with Fraud
RELEASED ON BONDS OF $2000
J. M. Skalla and Mrs. Barbara Matta appear in East St. Louis to answer indictment.

John M. Skalla and Mrs. Barbara Matta, partners in the United States Realty and Security Co., 715 Buder Building, gave bond in East St. Louis late yesterday in answer to charges of operating a confidence game, returned against them by the St. Clair grand jury last week.

Skalla and Mrs. Matta were arrested in their office at the Buder Building last Saturday and, following their release on bond here, announced that they would fight extradition to Illinois. Application for regulation papers was made by St. Clair County authorities Tuesday. Neither Mrs. Matta nor Skalla would comment on their sudden decision to give themselves up. Their bond was fixed at $2,000 each and was signed by Finis P. Ernest Jr., of East St. Louis. When arrested Skalla is said to have told police that he was working for Ernest.

The charges against Skalla and Mrs. Matta resulted from their promotion of a subdivision in East St. Louis, known as Alta Sita. Skalla is alleged to have assured purchasers of lots in the subdivision, chiefly persons of foreign birth, that they would be given employment in a glass factory to be erected by Henry Ford on a site adjacent to Alta Sita. The Ford glass factory is a myth, according to investigators, as are some of the other enterprises Skalla is said to have told purchasers would be started near their homes.

Woman Takes Poison by Mistake.
Mrs. Ethel Anastas, 24 years old, of 2315 Wash street, took bichloride of mercury tablets last night, mistaking them for other medicine, she said. She is at City Hospital, where physicians say she will recover.

Pastor Gives Blood for Transfusion.
NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Rev. Dr. Calvin C. Meary, pastor of the Throggs Neck Reformed Church, yesterday carried his church duties to the point of sacrificing a quart of blood for transfusion to a parishioner. It was given for the benefit of Mrs. Charles E. Strauss, who, physicians said, otherwise would have died. "My life is consecrated to save the souls of my congregation, and where frailness or illness interferes with my salvation work it is my duty to render whatever physical assistance I am able to," said the minister.

By the Associated Press.
GALESBURG, Ill., Oct. 3.—Charges that Herschel Watkins, 38 years old, wealthy farmer, of London, Mo., tried to trade his 16-year-old daughter, Maxine, to Edward Ahndorfer, made in a separate maintenance bill filed by Mrs. Jennie Watkins here yesterday.

BOOKS, BOUGHT AT $9 A SET, SOLD FOR $49, SUIT ALLEGES

Allegation Made by Trade Commission in Case Brought to Enjoin Publishing Company.

The purchase of books at $9 a set and their sale to the public at $49 is alleged by the Federal Trade Commission in a suit being heard here today to enjoin the International Publishing Co. of Chicago from continuing this and other practices in canvasses.

The publishing company, of which W. R. Maxwell is head, is alleged to have represented the contents falsely. Specifically it is charged that purchasers were told that the set, a reference work, contained writings by Marshall S. Snow, formerly dean of the School of Arts of Washington University, who died in 1918. It is declared that the books contain no writings by Snow.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Ford airplanes go on sale today at the John Wana-maker department store here as regular merchandise, the retail price being $25,000 each.

The first plane for the store, the JW-1, left the Ford airport at Dearborn, Mich., yesterday loaded with an un assembled automobile truck and merchandise and, after stopping at Cleveland for fuel, is due at Curtis Field this afternoon. The truck will be assembled there and in turn will carry the plane to the department store.

The plane is an all-metal monoplane made by the Stout Metal Airplane Co., a division of the Ford Motor Co., and is identical with the machine which made the best endurance test last week. It has a wing spread of 55 feet, four inches and is equipped with a 400-horsepower Liberty motor.

Two of the Ford machines will be used for express service between the New York and Philadelphia Wana-maker stores.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 8.—Jonas Strack and Mrs. Champion, both of Lake City, Ill., identified Eugene Rodgers, Fred Chandler, alias Fred Hendricks, and Sam Grubb, all of Cerro Gordo, arrested late Tuesday night by officers of Champaign, McLean and Platt counties, as the men who held up and robbed the Lake City State Bank on Sept. 29 of $200.

The men are alleged to have held Mrs. Champion, wife of the cashier of the bank, and Mrs. Strack at bay with pistols while they looted the bank. They are also charged with the holdup and robbery of the sum of $1500 from the State Bank at Jewett, Ill., five days later.

JAMES T. LLOYD LIKELY TO OPPOSE HAWES
Former Congressman, However, Noncommittal on Race for U. S. Senatorship.

By CURTIS A. BETTS.
Opposition to Congressman Harry B. Hawes, only avowed candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator to succeed Senator Williams next year, has appeared in the office in the person of James T. Lloyd of Canion, for many years Congressman from the First Missouri District.
While Lloyd has not announced his candidacy, he has returned to Missouri, and today over the telephone from Monticello, Mo., refused to discuss the question of his candidacy.
His reply to an inquiry as to whether he would say whether he would be a candidate, was: "I have nothing to say about it."
This non-committal reply would appear to indicate that Lloyd is seriously considering entering the race against Hawes. Whether he will be an acceptable candidate to those Democrats who are opposed to Hawes is a question that probably will not be settled for several months.
Lloyd has not been in very close touch with Missouri politics since his retirement from Congress eight years ago, and this might militate against his availability, particularly as a candidate against Hawes, who has devoted most of the time for four or five years that he has not been in his seat in Congress in getting acquainted over the state.
Before departing from Washington for Missouri Lloyd resigned the presidency of the Board of Education of the District of Columbia.
MISSOURI PACIFIC ORDERS 10 NEW ENGINES, 2000 CARS

Authorization has been made for the purchase of 2000 new automobile, box, stock and coal cars, five new standard steel dining cars, and 10 new heavy Santa Fe type freight engines for the Missouri Pacific Railroad, and 1900 new automobile engines for the International & Great Northern Railroad, it was announced today by L. W. Baldwin, president of the Missouri Pacific and International & Great Northern Railroads. This is in addition to the 15 all-steel baggage cars, orders for which were placed last week.
Increased volume of business on the Missouri Pacific system lines throughout 1935 and prospective increase in business throughout 1936, makes it necessary to purchase this new equipment, Baldwin announced.

52 TO SEE INDIAN HANGED
Arizona Sheriff Issues Invitation Cards From "Death Pack."
By the Associated Press.
PRESCOTT, Ariz., Oct. 8.—A "death pack" of cards was distributed today by United States Marshal George Mauk. Each card will admit one person to the stockade, where George Dixon Suiyname, young Walapai Indian, will be executed Saturday for the murder, last April, of Arthur M. Cavell, Prescott taxicab driver.

The unique invitations to the execution were decided on when it was determined that only 52 persons would be permitted within the stockade. The cards are unusual in design and the name of the bearer is registered. Because of the threats of a few members of the Walapai tribe of vengeance if Suiyname is executed, every precaution is being taken.

IRISH WAGES ARE HIGHER
IN IRELAND THAN ENGLAND
The American Federation of Labor and Congressmen's Union is being rebuilt. The American Federation of Labor today listened to a report of conditions in Ireland by Thomas Johnson, secretary of the Labor Party, who was introduced by President Green as the first labor official from "good old Ireland" ever to address the federation.

Johnson said that wages in Ireland were higher than in England and Scotland and that the membership of the Irish Trades Union Congress was 250,000 out of three-fourths of a million wage earners. Irish labor is "rebuilding the old country," he said, and looked for the sympathy of the Irish in America.

Indicted for Phone Operator's Death.
By the Associated Press.
MORRISON, Ill., Oct. 8.—John Seminski, Cottonwood, Ill., farmer, was indicted here today for the murder of Mrs. Marie Lorenzen McKee, Fulton, Ill., telephone operator, found strangled to death the morning of Sept. 23. The woman, night operator for the Tri-City Telephone Co., had been attacked by a marauder, who gained entrance through a rear window.

PRISONER THOUGHT TO BE LEADER OF AUTO THEFT RING
Los Angeles Police Ask That Man Arrested Here Be Turned Over to Them.

That Benjamin T. Batchelder, arrested Monday by detectives on McKinley Bridge, is the leader of an automobile theft ring at Los Angeles, is the belief of authorities there. Batchelder, who admitted that he had stolen the Hudson coach which he was driving, told police it was the only car he had stolen, but Los Angeles police are so certain that a number of cases against him, including five indictments, are good, that they have asked Federal authorities to turn him over to them instead of prosecuting him under the Dyer Act.

A picture of Batchelder, and also one of his companion who said he was a passenger and had paid Batchelder $40 to drive him to Chicago, is being sent to Los Angeles police, who believe that the passenger is Batchelder's brother. In Batchelder's pocket was found a notebook in which he has written the license numbers of 70 automobiles, and 70 ignition keys were found in his effects. A complete equipment of tools and punches for changing motor numbers was found by Los Angeles police at Batchelder's former quarters there, according to their report. The number had been changed on the car he was driving when arrested here.

CONFESSIONS IN DRUGGAN CASE
Assistant Jailor Admits Beer Runner Gave Him $400.
CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—More confessions have been disclosed in answers in contempt of court proceedings against Cook County Jail officials for liberties granted to Terry Druggan and Frank Lake, beer runners, serving sentences for contempt.

Fred Strassheim, assistant jailor, submitted his answer to the bulging bundle already in the possession of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson. Strassheim said he had been given $400 of Druggan's money but granted the beer runner no favors in the jail for R. Druggan is reported to have distributed thousands of dollars among guards for favors. Strassheim said he had told Sheriff Peter M. Hoffman, also cited for contempt, about receiving the money. John H. Shwanter, another guard, went as he told Judge Wilkerson of receiving a like amount of money. Judge Wilkerson will reopen the case Friday to hear further testimony.

Burglars Get $200 and Jewels.
Burglars in the home of George W. Cross of 3429 Vista avenue, during the absence of the family between 7 and 9 p. m. yesterday, stole $200 and jewelry and clothing valued at $300. Of the articles taken, $50 and most of the jewelry were the property of Miss Loretta Smith, a guest at the home.

Catholic Women to Meet.
The next regular meeting of the Catholic Women's Association will be held this evening at 8 p. m. at 206 North Eighth street. The Rev. James Preuss, S. J., will deliver a talk on "Retreats for Laywomen."

Change Name to Wed Jewish Girl.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Harry Healey, 27 years old, of Brooklyn, was granted permission by Judge Martin in County Court yesterday to change his name to Schwartz. In his petition, Healey explained that, although of Irish descent, he recently embraced the Jewish faith, is about to marry Miss Ida Weinberg and desired the change to save his future wife the "discomfort and annoyance" of bearing an Irish name. Schwartz, he added, was chosen because it was the maiden name of his prospective bride's mother. The wedding, with full Jewish ceremony, will be next March—probably not the 17th.

MEMORIAL TO WILSON INDORSED BY LEGION

Expected Fight Over Report Favoring Mitchell Air Ministry Is Postponed.

By the Associated Press.
OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 2.—The expected fight on the convention floor over the American Legion's Aeronautical Committee report was postponed this morning when Commander James A. Drain called for the report and met with no response.

Yesterday a resolution was adopted by the committee favoring a Department of Defense with three equal sub-heads covering army, navy and air, but not mentioning the name of Col. Mitchell, who suggested that idea along with many others.

A resolution endorsing the proposal for the erection of a memorial shrine to the late Woodrow Wilson, commander-in-chief of the American forces during the World War, at his birthplace at Staunton, Va., was passed unanimously by the committee.

The Legion adopted a resolution requesting "immediate adherence of the United States to a court of international justice." The resolution was substituted for a proposal by the world peace committee that the Legion request the Government of the United States to adhere immediately to the permanent court of international justice set up by the League of Nations and pledging the Legion to work towards that end.

After the selection of a provost guard of one man from each State delegation to assist the Omaha police, the city was more orderly last night than on any night since the opening of the convention. There was a noticeable falling off in street and hotel lobby gambling and liquor drinking. James A. Drain, national commander, was forced to action by reports that "camp followers" might bring the Legion into disrepute. The disorderly element was declared not to be legionnaires, but professional gamblers, bootleggers and others preying upon the delegates and thousands of visitors.

Three Hurt When Train Hits Auto.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 2.—Col. Charles H. Brown, editor of the Head Light and postmaster, his wife and Mrs. Blanche Schrader, all of Horton, Kan., were injured early today when a Missouri Pacific train, Kansas City to Omaha, struck a motor car in which they were driving, at Falls City, Neb. Mrs. Schrader's injuries are believed to be fatal. Brown was seriously hurt. Both are in a Falls City hospital. Mrs. Brown, who was driving the car, in which the three were returning from the American Legion convention at Omaha, was little hurt.

Death of Mrs. Julia Hadfield.
Mrs. Julia Hadfield, residing at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Leah Toyne, in Alton, was found dead in bed yesterday. Mrs. Hadfield went to Alton from her home in Le Grand, Mo., a short time ago to reside with her daughter. She was 70 years old. The body will be sent to Durham, Mo., for burial.

The SANI-FOLD can be conveniently tucked in vest pocket, handbag or desk drawer. It is always at hand, ready to use, before or after smoking and especially after eating. Realize greater joy from smoking. Insure yourself against tooth decay and bleeding gums. The SANI-FOLD habit will benefit you in many ways.

A carnival of southern hospitality

The opening of the famous old Maxwell House, years ago

It was just after the Civil War that the old Maxwell House of Nashville was finished. Rumors of its magnificence had aroused the anticipations of the South, and most of the notables of old Dixie were there that day to celebrate the opening.

What happy excitement there was! What mingling of voices and laughter and music. What speech-making and hand-clapping. And what food!

One account says of that first great banquet, "It was a carnival, a carnival of southern hospitality."

We can picture—moving softly through all the stir and hubbub—the courteous waiters, bearing the rich dishes that were to spread the fame of the old Maxwell House.

But the most famous of all its good food was its coffee

Year by year its fame grew, till in every section of the country, the Maxwell House came to be known for its hospitality and its old time southern dishes.

Year after year, the great and the distinguished traveled to it to enjoy its wonderful food. But most of all, their praise was given to the special blend of coffee which the Maxwell House served.

And they carried back to every state in the Union the fame of its rich fragrance and smooth, mellow flavor—the full-bodied goodness of Maxwell House Coffee.

Today the largest selling coffee in city after city

This same coffee that won such praise in the old South long ago, can today be bought at all better grocery stores throughout the United States.

It has pleased more people than any other high grade coffee ever offered for sale. It is the first choice of New York, of Washington, of St. Louis, of Atlanta and Cincinnati—of a long list of America's leading cities.

What coffee it is! What enjoyment in its aroma, so full and lasting; in its flavor, so rich and alluring! Just try this special blend of coffee for yourself; and you will see why, through all these years, it has won such universal praise. Ask your grocer today for one of the blue tins of Maxwell House Coffee. Check-Neal Coffee Company, Nashville, Houston, Jacksonville, Richmond, New York, Los Angeles.

GIRL, HAUNTED BY GHOST, "CURED"

British Psychic College Tells of Manifestations Attributed to Mischievous Spirit.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1935 by the Press and Publishing Associations (New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

LONDON, Oct. 3.—How Gwyneth Morley, 18-year-old girl working in a spinning mill at Keighley, in Yorkshire, was for a year haunted by a mischievous ghost and how she was recently
"cured" after three months' treatment at the British College of Psychic Science, has just been made known.

It was in the mill where she worked that it first was discovered that something was wrong with Miss Morley.

Threads in the room where she was employed were breaking constantly.
The mill manager investigated but could find no reason for this, and the Woolen and Worsted Research Association similarly failed.

At the girl's home there frequently were strange manifestations also. Pictures fell from the walls, and while Gwyneth was subject to short emotional disturbances, the furniture moved about in an unaccountable manner.

Plates Leave Oven.

One doctor told Miss Morley the whole thing was due to hysteria.
Another doctor in the act of ridi-culing the "spirit" was astonished to see the table in his waiting room upset. The girl's employers gave her a rest and when she returned to work in April they transferred her to the factory canteen, where "the manifestations" continued in an aggravated form.

Plates slid out of the oven when the young woman was four feet away, and an iron pot jumped out of the table as she walked past.
Another time as she was leaving the kitchen, a quivering jumped out of a bowl five feet from her.

A doctor who placed a grounded wire near her said enough sparks came from Gwyneth's body to light a cigarette. At this point the case was reported to Sir Arthur Conan Doyle.

More Crockery Broken.

"I suggested," he said, "that she should have a long rest and get stronger. Such happenings as these are not unknown and are caused by a kind of mischievous spirit. I happened to tell Hewatt McKenzie of the British College of Psychic Science about the case, and he was so interested that he invited the girl to spend three months there for treatment and rest."

"While she was there I understand that about $800 worth of crockery was broken, but eventually the girl was cured. These things are always worse when the person concerned is in a low condition of health. I imagine that she is now well enough to have thrown off this mischievous spirit."

GLORIA GOULD BISHOP SAID TO HAVE TAKEN UP PARIS ABODE

Reported to Have Sublet New York
Apartment and to Have Sailed Secretly.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The New York American today says that Mrs. Gloria Gould Bishop has sub-let her New York apartment and sailed secretly for Europe, while her husband, Henry A. Bishop Jr., has gone to a camp in the Maine woods. Her friends say, according to the story, that she will establish a residence in Paris. She departed on the Maestri last Saturday, the story says.

Gloria Gould, daughter of the late George J. Gould, sister of Lady Deedes and heir to great wealth, has attracted much attention since her marriage two years ago, at the age of 17, by her determination to earn out a career and earn money for herself. She has announced her belief that every wife should do it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

Last December, she made her debut as a professional dancer at an entertainment given in the name of charity at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel. She has clung to her maiden name throughout her professional career.

Recently she became managing directress, at $250 a week, at the Embassy Theater, a $2 motion picture palace, with ushers in ballet costumes. In overall she helped with the interior decoration of the theater.

A daughter was born to the Bishops in April. Last March Mrs.
Bishop's brother, Kingston, who is her guardian until her disabilities as a minor are removed, applied for court authority to reinvest her securities to assure her a larger income.

DUBLIN PREPARES FOR STRIKE

Municipal Workers Dismissed With Street-Cleaning Contract.

By the Associated Press.

DUBLIN, Oct. 3.—The city authorities are planning military huts at vantage points throughout the city and particularly near the mundane electric station to accommodate troops in anticipation of trouble rising from a threatened strike of all municipal workers Saturday.

The strike, if it materializes, will in protest against the awarding of a 10-year contract for cleaning
Dublin's streets to a Paris firm.
The workers object to the employment of outside labor, although the city commissioners assert that all labor employed under the contract will be local, except men in a few higher positions.

FOR KILLING PROFESSOR Pettit County Prosecutor Says He Will Ask That Death Penalty Be Imposed.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SEDALIA, Mo., Oct. 8.—The trial of Everett Adams, Wilmington, O. youth, for first degree murder in connection with the slaying of Aden R. Clawson, Lod-
N. Y. professor, near Lamotte, Mo., Aug. 1, and was called today before a crowded courtroom.

A motion was filed by the defense to dismiss, because no information had been filed in juvenile court. It was contended that Adams was only 16 years old when the crime was committed. The motion was overruled by Circuit Judge Hoffman and the qualifying of a jury was started.

Roy W. Hucker, prosecuting attorney who made a trip to Wilmington, O., to get depositions as to the character of the boy, intends to insist on inflicting of the death penalty should a conviction be secured.

"I know I will have to serve some time, and I want to get it over with," Adams said today. His father, mother and sister are in court.

Clawson was driving West on a vacation tour. Adams was walking along the highway outside of Jefferson City. He had left home as a result of trouble with a sweetheart. Clawson picked him up and asked him if he wanted to accompany him on the remainder of his trip. Adams, with only 50 cents in his pockets, consented.

The professor and the youth stopped near La Monte. The professor got out to take off his coat.
Adams had a small automatic pistol in his pocket. Suddenly, according to his story, he drew it and attempted to hold up Clawson.

He lunged at the boy and Adams said before he knew what happened he had shot the professor.

STEALS CAR TO 'KEEP HIS PROMISE' TO JUDGE
18-Year-Old St. Louisian Tells Wichita Police He Intended to Abandon Auto.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WICHITA, Kan., Oct. 8.—With no money to buy a ticket, a youth who described himself as William Tolby, 18, of St. Louis, who recently was paroled by Judge Carl Davis in police court on a charge of petit larceny, was caught stealing a motor car.

He admitted that he intended to take the car, but said he had planned to leave it as soon as the gasoline supply ran out.

"What else could I do?"
Tolby asked. "The Judge gave me 90 days for stealing a razor and paroled me after doing 30 days on my promise to leave. I was broke and could not buy a ticket. I had given my promise to the Judge and I had to keep it."

GERMAN OIL OUTPUT MEAGER
Production Covers Only 5 Per Cent of Country's Needs.
Correspondence of the Associated Press.
NUERNBERG, Sept. 12.—Germany's share in the world's production of oil is but .06 per cent, which barely covers 5 per cent of the country's requirements, said Prof.
F. Schöndorfer before the German Society of Chemists.

After Germany lost its oil wells in Alsace-Lorraine, with their annual yield of 75,000 tons, the wells of Wiese, in Hanover, turned out to be of greatest promise. For the first time existing derricks were replaced by a regular pit having a depth of 825 feet. With a single pit these wells now turn out the same production as with 600 der-ricks formerly, and far surpasses the Alsation output of pre-war days.

SHIPPING BOARD ISSUE TO BE PUT UP TO CONGRESS

Committee Has Been Investigating Its Affairs and Near-Subsidy Bills Are in Preparation.

NEW HEAD OF FLEET IN CHARGE

Board, Standing on Its Prerogatives, to Continue Regional Policy of Operation.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.

10-23 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—President

Coolidge returned to Washington today to face the greatest challenge of his presidency since he was sworn in last March.

The Shipping Board, which on Monday dismissed Leigh C. Palmer, the man he had chosen to head the government's merchant navy, has no thought of backing.

The Board disclaims any insubordination, maintaining it was created by Congress as an independent body and that its policy is simply exercising its own authority.

Its position is that the President's connection with the handling of the ships is limited to his power of appointment and that there can be no insubordination where there is no authority. The majority, which means the Democratic members plus Commissioner

Hutcheson I. Cone, Rear Admiral, retired, submitted his resignation yesterday as vice president and general manager of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, in protest against the Board's summary dismissal of Admiral Palmer as president. As a retired naval officer, Admiral Palmer took the position he could not be any longer

the head of an organization that "defied"

the President.

Honey To Retain Post.

Elmer E. Crowley, newly elected president of the fleet corporation, arrived from New York where he has been managing operator of the American Export line, and took charge of his new office.

Commissioner Bert M. Honey, whose resignation had been requested by the President because he had come to his "attention that you are about to remove Admiral

Palmer contrary to the understanding I had with you when I appointed you," is standing pat

with all the cards in his own hand. Repeating his denial that he had ever made such a promise, Honey let it be known that although he had taken the office against his will he would not now resign.

Regional Policy to Continue.

The regional management of the board will continue, and as Honey expressed it, there will be no more ships taken away from Fordland to be converted into cargo ships.

The policy of strengthening the country will not be continued.

He says the entire Pacific Coast with the Gulf region, is with him in the affairs of the Shipping

Board and the attempt to build up

Government merchant marine is certain to come in for an aiding behavior the next Congress. The Davis committee will be ready with its report when Congress convenes and it is said it will contain some startling disclosures.

Two bills are in preparation which are regarded as subsidy bills in a new form. One is known as the recommendation of the American Steamship and other steamship owners. Another, differing in form

Commissioner Honey explains

there is a misunderstanding as to the actual number of ships in operation. It was asserted at the White House there were 279 ships in operation, whereas Honey says

there never has been more than 237.

Admiral Palmer has defended cutting down the lines in the interest of economy, while the President has insisted on cutting down the number of ships in operation

where there were fewer vessels in operation. Honey points out that the appropriations required to run the line have been cut from $30,000,000 in 1924 to $22,000,000 a year.

SHIPPING BOARD ISSUE TO BE PUT UP TO CONGRESS

NEW HEAD OF FLEET IN CHARGE

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—President Coolidge returned to Washington today to face the greatest issue of what he has considered his prerogatives since the state turned down his appointment to the Attorney-Generalship.

The Shipping Board, on Monday dismissed Leigh C. Palmer, the man he had chosen to head the government's merchant fleet, as no thought of backing him.

The Board disclaims any insubordination, maintaining it was a body and that in going over to the President's wishes it was simply exercising its own authority.

The position is that the President's connection with the handling of the ships is limited to his power of appointment and that there is no insubordination where one is an authority. The matter, which means the Democratic members plus Commissioner Sumner, believes it holds all the trump cards and regards the removal of the President with equanimity.

Before the President can reconstitute the Board the affairs of that organization will be before Congress in the form of two near-subsidy bills and in the report of the investigating committee, headed by Representative Hays, (Dem.) of Tennessee, will go to the new Congress.

Mr. Hays, who is standing against the Board's summary dismissal of Admiral Palmer as president, said the position he could not be any longer in an organization that "defied" the President.

Haney to Retain Post.
Mr. E. Crowley, newly elected president of the fleet corporation, who succeeded Admiral Palmer, arrived from New York where he has been managing the affairs of the American Export line and took charge of his new office.

Commissioner Bert M. Haney, whose resignation had been requested by the President because he had come to his "attention that the board was about to remove Admiral Palmer contrary to the understanding I had with you when I appointed you," is standing pat with all the cards in his own hand. Repeating his denial that he had ever made such a promise, Haney let it be known that he had taken the office against his will he would not now resign.

Regional Policy to Continue.
The regional management of the fleet will continue, and as Haney pointed out, there will be no more ships taken away from Portland to the prevent it and the policy of concentrating the smaller ports of the country will not be continued. He says the entire Pacific Coast and the inland territory, together with the Gulf region, is with him.

The affairs of the Shipping Board and the attempt to build up Government merchant marine is to come in for an airing before the next Congress. The Davis committee will be ready with its report when Congress convenes.

It was said it will contain some startling disclosures.

The bills are in preparation which are regarded as a steady bill in a new form. One is known as the recommendation of the American Steamship and other steamship lines. Another, differing in form but not in substance, is the bill to be prepared by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Commissioner Haney explains that it is a misunderstanding as to the actual number of ships in operation. It was asserted at the White House there were 275 ships in operation, whereas Haney says there never has been more than 100.

Admiral Palmer has defended himself down the lines in the investigation of economy while the President has insisted on cutting down appropriations on the ground that there were fewer vessels in operation. Haney points out that the vessels required to run the coastwise trade from $50,000,000 in 1924 to $22,000,000 a year.

War-Time Letters of Ambassador Page

THIS is the fifth installment of a series of unpublished letters written by Walter Dill Page, wartime Ambassador to Great Britain, to President Wilson. The letters are edited by Burton J. Hendrick, who consulted various leaders, political and diplomatic, with whom Ambassador Page came into contact, in his preparation of them.

EDITED BY BURTON J. HENDRICK.

(Copyright, 1925.)
The Lusitania was torpedoed May 7, 1915. Ambassador Page's experience during that period have already been described, and the letters written both to the President and Col. House have been printed. Several telegrams sent the President and the Secretary of State, however, add emphasis to his view. The following is a letter written May 15, the day after the Lusitania disaster, the earliest official paper dealing with the great issue raised by this calamity. In it the Ambassador reports the British and European view that the United States, by declaring war at that time, could quickly bring the European conflict to an end.

Telegram to the President.
LONDON, MAY 8 (1915). 5 P. M. Confidential in the extreme. For the President and the Secretary only.

As nearly as I can interpret public opinion here, as affected by the sinking of the Lusitania, it is as follows, which I transmit for your information:
A profound effect has been produced in the English opinion in general regarding both the culpability of the German submarine work and the extreme recklessness of the Germans. The sinking of the Lusitania, following the use of poisonous gas and the poisoning of wells and other plainly marked neutral ships, the English regard as the complete abandonment of all regulations and of humanity in its conduct, as well as of any consideration for neutrals. Sir Edward Grey said to me last night: "They are running a snail." It is a war under the black flag. Indignation in the aggregate reached a new pitch.

Attitude of British.
Official comment is of course recent. The freely expressed opinion is that the United States must declare war or forfeit European respect. So far as I know this opinion is universal. If the United States comes in, the moral and physical effort will be to bring peace quickly and to give the United States a great influence in ending the war and in so reorganizing the world as to prevent its recurrence. If the United States submits to German disregard of her citizens' lives and of her property and of her neutral rights on the sea, the United States will have no voice or influence in settling the war or in what follows for a long time to come. This, so far as I can ascertain, is the practically unanimous opinion here. The Americans in London are outspoken to the same effect.

Much the profoundest depression is felt today that has been felt since the war began and British opinion is stirred to its depths. Foreign opinion, however, is usually well-informed and trustworthy man, who knows all the principal European statesmen, is just returned from a week in France. He tells me in strictest confidence that England, France and Russia made a bargain with Italy on April 30, agreeing to cede to Italy very large parts of Austrian territory some of which was a Slavic population, if Italy came into the war within a month. This was done without consulting Serbia and against her wishes. Italy will soon come in if she keeps her agreement, to be followed by Rumania. I have heard unofficial confirmation of this agreement here.

The same editor informs me that Gen. Joffre told him that he is confident that he would break through the German lines within a month.

I have heard the opinion expressed that the President will recommend cutting this sum to $12,000,000.

Mineral Wealth in Arctic Region.
HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 8.—The frozen expanses of the Arctic Circle are being brought nearer to civilization through the media of northern expeditions and the vast mineral wealth contained therein will in the near future be at the disposal of the Governments and private interests in the United States and Canada, according to Commander E. P. McDonald of the steamer Peary of the MacMillan Arctic expedition, which arrived here Tuesday.

Filipino Senate Repeals Debt Law.
MANILA, Oct. 8.—The Insular Senate yesterday passed and sent to the House a bill repealing the law which penalizes failure to meet financial obligations when criminal intent is proven. Sponsors of the bill stated that the present law practically permitted imprisonment for debt, was a form of penance, and therefore violated the Constitution of the United States as well as the provisions of the Jones law, an act of the Government of the Philippines.

Oil Production Decreases.
NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The daily average gross crude oil production in the United States decreased 11,130 barrels for the week ended Oct. 2, totaling 2,082,210 barrels, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute.

By the Associated Press.
LOCARNO, Switzerland, Oct. 8.—A new incident, believed to be of vital importance in its bearing on the success of the security conference, came today in the form of a private meeting between Foreign Minister Stresemann of Germany and the British Foreign Secretary, Austen Chamberlain.

Stresemann and Chamberlain not only discussed the problems immediately before the conference, but the whole range of European questions on which mutual agreement is essential before political reconstruction can be achieved.

Mr. Chamberlain is anxious to mediate between the opposing views of the French and German governments over this matter in an endeavor to find a formula.

GERMANY INSISTS HER SOIL MUST REMAIN NEUTRAL

Chancellor Luther and Briand Discuss This Aspect of Security Pact, Privately.

By the Associated Press.
LOCARNO, Switzerland, Oct. 8.—A new incident, believed to be of vital importance in its bearing on the success of the security conference, came today in the form of a private meeting between Foreign Minister Stresemann of Germany and the British Foreign Secretary, Austen Chamberlain.

Stresemann and Chamberlain not only discussed the problems immediately before the conference, but the whole range of European questions on which mutual agreement is essential before political reconstruction can be achieved.

Mr. Chamberlain is anxious to mediate between the opposing views of the French and German governments over this matter in an endeavor to find a formula.

Meanwhile, the juridical experts completed a new draft of the arbitration features of the Rhine pact which they are confident the Germans can accept. It involves obligatory arbitration of all disputes which might arise under the operation of the Rhine treaty.

This means that one of the main principles of the Geneva peace protocol will be incorporated in an important treaty. The new draft of the pact will be incorporated in the Rhine pact which will make it a guiding post for Franco-German relations, and that it perhaps will serve as a precedent for similar treaties between many other countries.

Luther and Briand Confer.
Although M. Briand, the French Foreign Minister, and Dr. Luther, German Chancellor, in the guide of a scheduled stop at Locarno, had a heart-to-heart talk yesterday on how best to bring about lasting peace in Europe, Germany continues to pursue a campaign against permitting German soil to be used as a theater of combat in any possible war among her neighbors.

Such utilization of German territory would be conceivable under the provisions of the covenant of the League of Nations concerning movements of troops against a warring nation. Both Briand and Luther expressed the determination to do everything possible to prevent against such warfare and for an enduring peace.

Germany still wants the allies, as members of the League of Nations, to subscribe at Locarno to some undertaking engaging their support in the event of a violation of the covenant of the League which will permit Germany, like Switzerland, to maintain her neutrality.

The German spokesmen said today that if they could claim the aid of the allies in this respect Germany would enter the League of Nations without any other reservation. They added, however, that the world would be disappointed if Germany refused to permit the fulfillment of the League's arbitration treaties with Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Not only peace now but peace for all time is Germany's desire, the German Chancellor, Dr. Luther, informed Briand.

No Political Considerations.
In the course of yesterday's formal session, Stresemann attempted to introduce some of this reasoning, declaring the German people could not be induced to accept the League of Nations without a guarantee that the League would not be used to bring up frontiers to that end through arbitration agreements.

Chamberlain considers that the Polish corridor in its present form cannot last and a Polish outlet to the sea must be arranged eventually, through the league or through the Customs Union, which does not, as now, cut Germany in two. Acceptance of France as guarantor of the eastern treaties Germany considers would be tantamount to acceptance by Germany of eastern frontiers as definite.

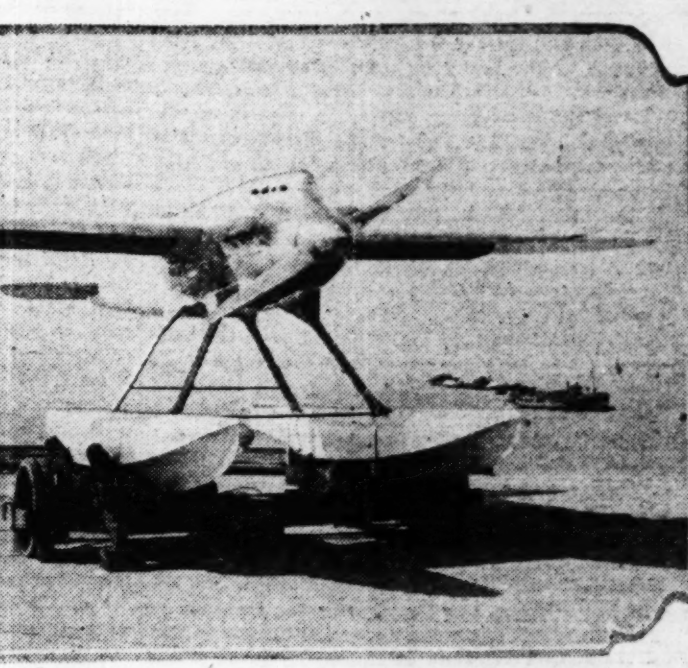

Stresemann agrees to refer political issues to league.

LOCARNO, Switzerland, Oct. 8.—Compulsory arbitration for every possible cause of conflict on the Rhine frontier has been agreed to in principle in the plenary session of Foreign Ministers conferring here on the proposed security pact, Aristide Briand of France has intimated.

Gustave Stresemann of Germany tacitly agreed yesterday to take judicial problems before the World Court and political problems before the Council of the League of Nations, but the decision is not final because Germany is not prepared to accept the same form of arbitration for Eastern treaties.

Stresemann refused to consider France as a guarantor of German, Polish and Czechoslovak arbitration treaties. He intimated a

Great Britain's New "Mystery Ship"

THE one-wing seaplane, which will fly in the Schneider cup race in Baltimore, Oct. 24. This machine was built to the order of the Air Ministry by which it is loaned for the race. Its registration title is Napier S-4, but it has been called a "Mystery Ship" because of the secrecy which has attended the test flights made by it.

British or League of Nations guarantee could be accepted, but France was the one country Germany was determined against as guarantor.

Briand informed French correspondents that of the two questions, that of reserving the right for signatories to guarantee arbitration treaties between Germany and Poland and between German and Czechoslovakia, framed in the spirit of and within the covenant of the League of Nations, which shall be signed simultaneously with and as corollary to the present pact.

The article was written in this way obviously to make it possible for the French to guarantee these treaties, thereby living up to agreements with their two Eastern allies and preserving for France the leading position on the continent. For the same reason the Germans are opposed, but Foreign Minister Chamberlain of Britain and Vandervelde of Belgium are backing Briand.

England Backs France.
This indicates two important decisions on the part of the British Government: First, to permit the French to work into the Rhine pact a connection with Eastern arbitration treaties; second, to back the French in the position that the League of Nations, which does not, as now, cut Germany in two, security, guarantee Eastern treaties just as Britain is guaranteeing Western.

The Germans have taken pains to express their protest regarding the Eastern frontiers, which the correspondent has from a responsible German source as follows:
Germany refuses to sign anything that will make it impossible to bring up the question of eastern frontiers in the future. This is not expected for a number of years, and there is no intention of rectifying frontiers by violence; but if Germany enters the League of Nations, the League must be able to establish machinery to that end through arbitration agreements.

King Haakon Honors American.

LA CROSSE, Wis., Oct. 8.—Dr. Adolf Gunderson, a regent of the University of Wisconsin and head of the Lutheran Hospital clinic here, has been awarded the Knighthood of St. Olaf, first rank, by King Haakon of Norway. Gunderson was born in Norway and lived there up to the time he came here 30 years ago to practice surgery.

London "White Heather" Bleached.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—American tourists who have bought "Genie Scotch White Heather" from vendors in London's streets and sent it home to their Scotch relatives are much chagrined to learn that much of the supposed white heather offered for sale in London is purple heather, the commonest shrub in all the waste territory about London, which flower dealers have been changing to white by bleaching the seeds and impairing the market for "white heather."

Campaign to Raise $100,000 for New Plant at Bristol to Be Conducted from Oct. 19 to 24.
By the Associated Press.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Oct. 8.—Six hundred representatives of Chambers of Commerce and civic clubs throughout Oklahoma are ready to participate during the week of Oct. 19 to 24 in a campaign to raise $100,000 to put "the voice of Oklahoma" back on the air.

Gov. M. E. Trapp said yesterday he is preparing a proclamation, setting the week aside officially as the "Voice of Oklahoma Week." The money to be raised would be used to erect a 500-watt superpower station, one of the most powerful in the United States. The plan contemplates seven studios scattered over the State, six to operate by remote control. The central radiocasting station would be in Bristol. A charter was issued yesterday by Secretary of State R. A. Sneed to "The Voice of Oklahoma" corporation, headed by E. H. Rolleston, wealthy Bristol oil operator. No story will be issued, however, and the financial campaign will be conducted only in the nature of subscription for which "membership" will be issued.

PUBLICITY PLAN OPPOSED BY THREE ON SCHOOL BOARD

Members of the Committee on Buildings Explain Why They Do Not Favor Open Meetings.

'WOULD CEASE TO BE DELIBERATING BODIES'

Say Members' Sense of Personal Responsibility Would Be Lessened by Presence of Civic Groups

The plan for opening meetings of committees of the Board of Education to the public is opposed by the three members of the Committee on School Buildings. As was told yesterday, two of the three members of the Committee on Instruction have endorsed the open-meeting plan.

The members of the Committee on School Buildings, all opposed to open committee meetings, are Richard Murphy, Stephen Wagner and Emil J. Barth. The members of the Committee on Instruction who favor the plan are Myrt A. Rollins and Mrs. Elias Michael, and the third member, Henry P. Fahrnknecht, opposes the measure.

A statement setting forth the position of the Committee on School Buildings was issued yesterday by Murphy as chairman. He holds that, under its charter, the board has "the duty to supervise without the power to inaugurate." He believes that "to throw committee meetings open to the public would subject the committees to influences from which they have hitherto been free."

Explains Position.
"The officers of the board," he says, "in initiating or suggesting action along certain lines would be required to submit their recommendations in the presence of bodies of citizens by whom the motives, the purposes and the wisdom of such recommendations would be increasingly questioned, frequently, and doubt, in good spirit, but also at times under the stress of feeling in a spirit of hostility. The committees would cease to be deliberative bodies. Confidential exchange of opinion between them and the officers of the board would be impossible. In the absence of such exchange of opinion an intelligent and sympathetic consideration of policies and purposes could not be expected."

Referring to the desire often expressed by the President for a new limitation of armaments conference, Burton yesterday said "various propositions looking toward the same ideal are being considered in various European conferences and it would be an intrusion for our Government to ask for a conference in Washington while these efforts are being made."

He made it clear later that he was speaking on his own authority and was not inspired to make the statement by the White House.

The delegates voted unanimous approval for resolutions creating a committee to study ways for eliminating customs or trade barriers between European countries, and setting up a group of experts to study the world parliamentary situation.

The 400 foreign delegates left Washington yesterday on a special train for New York. They will remain several days in that city, while members of the French and German groups give further consideration to the establishment of a demilitarized zone between their countries. They will leave for Niagara Falls, N. Y., Oct. 10, and arrive at Ottawa, Canada, in time to resume conference sessions there Oct. 13.

PARIS, Oct. 8.—A sensation has been created in military circles by the refusal of two officers of the Belfort garrison to obey orders to leave France for the war in Syria. Both offered to resign rather than go to the front. They are Captains Hermann and Brau, both of the Thirty-fifth Infantry.

The War Office refused to accept Hermann's resignation and will bring him before a committee of inquiry. Brau offered ill health as his reason, and the Medical Board accepted this after an examination. Reports from Belfort say that the two Captains were the objects of hostile demonstrations by the soldiers.

Street Disfigurement.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
 ONE of the recent contributors to this column directed attention to the fact that in the city of London, the trolleys or trams are excluded from a portion of the city, and it might be of interest to supplement this statement with information as to why this exclusion is in effect or why it is advantageous from certain standpoints which can best be illustrated in a local application, as follows:

Take a camera with you to Union boulevard and Pershing avenue. From that location point your camera to the south, photographing the stretch of Union that extends southward from Pershing to Forest Park. Then turning directly about, focus your camera on Union boulevard as it lies in front of you to the north.

Compare your two pictures. In the first you will find a central grass-plotted parkway, curbed and made pleasing by arrangements of shrubbery at intervals. You will see a street, unmarred by the unsightly adjuncts of the trolley, no poles, no wires, no steel rails roughing or marring your street surface, and yet you have transportation here of two different lines, yet no blockades, no traffic jamming midstreet loadings.

Consider then your second picture. You will observe no central grass-plotted parkway, no shrubbery, but instead a planed where you might have wished a tree; overhead wires and heavy feed wires; in the street surface you will see steel rails providing bumps for motor vehicles in all weather and danger in rain and snow. You might observe a trolley stopped in midstreet, coasting its path into the narrow lane of danger that lies between curb and car. If you carry your photography a little further north beyond Delmar, you will see churches, schools and other buildings of a high architectural order which are "killed" effectively from an artistic standpoint by the poles and overhead wires that "affront" them.

Union might be made a boulevard by a trackless and trolleyless transportation system, but—

Official Lawlessness.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
 I READ with profound interest your editorial of the 6th inst. entitled "The Police Board's Quibbles." In my humble opinion you are right and sound in law and good morals and public policy. I am sure you will find no contradiction by any man who knows the Constitution and the laws and who is not quibbling for advantage that "No law not in conformity with the State and Federal Constitution is valid, and no conduct of public officials contrary to them is lawful. Such conduct is official lawlessness."

Bombing the Rifflans.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
 I WAS much impressed by Col. Charles Sweeney's defense of Christian civilization, as he calls it, in dropping bombs on the Rifflans in Northern Africa. Col. Sweeney, who is leader of American Lafayette Escadrille, must have a very much warped and biased belief to think that the way to defend Christian civilization is to murder non-Christians. The best way to defend Christianity is to live it.

The writer of this is well aware of how Mohammedans have treated Christians, especially Armenians and Greeks, with all the butchery and rapine and murder with which they are accredited; and that strong measures should be taken by the Christian nations to prevent further outrages, but when a people, be they Christians or not, are fighting for their freedom, home and native land is it fair, is it right, is it Christian, is it legal to fight against them? St. Louis is noted for its thugs and underworld, but is it any more for one man to hire a thug at a price to kill another than to be an aviator employed to drop bombs and kill for a price?

Unreasonable Search Decision.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
 YOUR contention that State Constitution does not authorize unreasonable searches and arrests without probable cause is correct. In State vs. Ours, decided in Supreme Court en banc, Feb. 11, 1924, the Court said in a search-and-seizure liquor case: "It is not within the power of the Legislature to enact a law which will permit an unreasonable search."—258, Southwestern Reporter, 2d ed. p. 181.

All Saved.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
 ACCORDING to Holy Writ every bird and beast and fowl has the same accessibility to Heaven as we humans. Did you ever wake up in the night and hear a rooster crow? You had no idea of the time, but the bird heard the approach of dawn. Did you ever wander abroad with a dog and, with the dulceness of man, see nothing, hear nothing? But the canine heard all the voices of the universe and saw everything in its ken. And the geese preening a storm and once saved Rome from destruction.

OUR POLICE AUTOCRACY.

Replying to the Police Board's assault upon the grand jury, William W. La Beaume, a member of the grand jury, described the attitude of the Police Board in the phrase, "The King can do no wrong." It is evident that the Police Board assumes that there is a divinity that doth hedge about the Police Department. It is above the Constitution and the laws. It claims special privileges to violate the Constitution and the legal rights of citizens. It is superior to the grand jury and the courts.

The board ignores the indictment of four police officers by the grand jury, declaring that its own judgment with regard to their conduct is superior to that of the grand jury. There is a clear intimation that the grand jury was either biased in finding these indictments or lacked the judgment or intelligence required to bring in a true bill.

The board reflects upon the honesty and the intelligence of the Prosecuting Attorney and his associates. It rejects his record and assumes that in arresting without warrant or evidence the police are right and he is wrong.

It is evident that the Police Board has a low opinion of the capacity and integrity of the Judges of the Court of Criminal Correction. It is greatly displeased with the action of the Judges in not convicting on appeal accused persons against whom there is no evidence against them. Its view apparently is that if the persons arrested without warrant and without evidence cannot be convicted, there is no use in trying to enforce the law.

In the matter of raiding homes, the Police Board assumes a superiority to the Constitution, the law and the evidence, and the courts. The suspicion of its officers that homes are places where liquor is sold is the highest authority on that point. Such places under suspicion are removed from the category of homes. In the matter of raiding and seizing without warrants, it reflects upon the competence of Federal Judges, who reject evidence of unlawful acts procured in an unlawful way. Even the United States Supreme Court, which supports this rule, is a dub as compared with the St. Louis Board of Police Commissioners. It doesn't know what's what in law.

The board admits the impossibility of securing evidence sufficient to convict in many liquor and gambling cases, but assumes the right and the power to continue raiding places and arresting persons without warrant or evidence of guilt.

In short, it assumes the right and power of the police, regardless of the Constitution, the laws, the courts and the prosecuting officers, to arrest as many innocent persons as they please, in the hope of catching a guilty person now and then.

Our present Police Board has overturned the whole theory of police power and police service. In its view, the Police Department is not organized to serve the people in the enforcement of laws and protect them from criminals. It is the master of the people. It is not bound by the Constitution and the laws, or decisions of courts or juries, or any governmental safeguards or processes of law. It is supreme. It is the autocrat. Every other power must bend, and the people submit patiently to the will of the police autocracy.

We erred in saying that the Police Board is superior to all powers. It is subject to the Governor of the State, whose will is supreme in the control of the police. The people of St. Louis are helpless.

FORD'S AVIATION PREDICTIONS.

Evidently impressed by the success of the Ford tour experiment, Henry Ford, only recently quoted as doubtful of aviation's future, especially for commercial and peace purposes, now comes out as an ardent enthusiast on the subject. He announces a new engine for light planes which he expects will help to put everybody into the air. He sees the day when the airplane will rival the automobile in popularity; when great airships, semirigid dirigibles and airplanes combined, will make the trip to Europe in two days. And, though professing to be a greenhorn in aviation, he boldly asserts that "it's bigger in possibilities than anything else in the world."

"We'll put all the people into the air whenever they want to fly," says the motor-car king. "What I am doing is helping to get ready for the flying generation when it comes. This new art belongs to the younger generation. . . . Man must conquer the elements, and he will."

The news of the day may well warrant such enthusiasm as to the future of aviation. St. Louis is at last to be included in the postal air service. And the interest in the international air races beginning today at Mitchell Field, New York, is much more pronounced than in any former contest. New Yorkers were given a wonderful show of illuminated airships flying overhead like comets, advertising the show. The newest and most perfect air racing machines, manned by the world's speediest pilots, will do new wonders. And air men and women are flocking to the airways to the races from all over the country. Besides the scores already on the ground, 600 privately owned airplanes are expected to arrive by Thursday night, and will tax the capacity of the three big flying fields.

The age of aviation is here.

A BRIEF FOR THE OLD-TIME BUGGY.

Potential poets pop up now and then where least expected. Col. Omar D. Gray, who for 27 years has owned and operated the Sturgeon Lander, in the small Missouri town with the placid name, has been known to fame heretofore chiefly as an energetic manager of other fellows' political campaigns. Now, suddenly, the sage of Sturgeon burgens forth in a panegyric in behalf of the old-time buggy as best first aid to courting. Col. Gray says specifically the Columbus buggy, but the Banner buggy no doubt served just as well for the purpose of romance, and our Sturgeon friend should not forget that the Banner, built in St. Louis, was the ubiquitous Ford of buggydom in this general vicinity until Henry Ford compelled the Gardner family to go into the making of automobiles in self-defense.

But that is aside from the main issue, which is that of love-making. Col. Gray holds a brief for the buggy as against both the automobile and the porch swing. He descants upon the glory of driving through country lanes "with the little blue Johnny jump-ups in the fence corners, and the white dogwood blossoms sprinkling the forest, with an occasional Bob White whistle coming from out in the cornfield"—and, of course, the driver using only one hand for the piloting of the old gray mare. This latter touch is not added by the Missouri Omar, who is poet enough to leave something to his reader's imagination.

Our Boone County contemporary writes, however, in prose form. "The Ballad of the Banner Buggy" is a title still inviting the genius of some rhyme-and-rhythm bard who continues to believe that the old-time simple life offered more room for the ripening of romances than is possible in the jazzed congestions of today. Not all the poetry of rural romance has been written, not by a bugyal.

SCIENTIFIC BUNCOMBE.

There is no such thing as a criminal. Such is the learned dictum of Dr. William Nelson, director of the St. Louis Psychiatric Clinic, made in a speech before the Scottish Rite Club. This presumptuous statement certainly is not new. It has been the topic of academic discussion for some years. Lately it has been heard with increasing frequency in courtrooms where men on trial for their lives call upon psychiatrists to convince juries that they are not responsible for criminal acts.

It is a universal convention among scientific men generally that great care should be exercised in stating theories which are not supported by abundant proof. This convention, however, is treated with contempt by psychiatrists. Though the science of psychiatry, which is the study of mental diseases, is but a toddling infant, both in actual years and in accomplishments, its practitioners believe its theories as if they had something of the exactness of mathematics.

Only within the last generation or so has the study of mental diseases been pursued scientifically. In that time some progress has been made. But psychiatrists no more have solved the mysteries of the mind than philosophers have discovered the riddle of the universe. Insanity and its causes remain far beyond the understanding of scientists, and the theory held in the Middle Ages that an insane man was possessed of the devil is no more ridiculous than any modern pretense that the mind and the nervous system have yielded to analysis.

Of course, Dr. Nelson, like his fellows, supports his views on criminality with a mass of data indicating that crime is the result of fundamental defects in the nervous system, of environmental conditions and the like. To conclude blandly that these defects and conditions are in all cases the authors of crime, to the exclusion of all individual responsibility, not only flies in the face of reason, but abrogates all existing moral philosophy. That, of course, is no argument against the alleged findings of psychiatry, but is simply cited to illustrate the gravity of expressing them as facts.

The real argument against such statements as Dr. Nelson made is that they are not yet susceptible of proof. Psychiatry is simply groping experimentally into the intricate recesses of the mind. For its doctors to speak as though it were as highly developed as the science of physical diseases is to discredit and retard a department of learning upon whose progress mankind eagerly waits.

THE GENUS LEGISLATOR.

With delegates from 41 countries attending—theoretically—the sessions of the Inter-Parliamentary Union, Washington had a good chance to make a comparative study of the genus legislator. The result shows that the American species is quite representative of his breed throughout the world. An eyewitness at Monday's session says the speeches were listened to by a scant 25 per cent of those who came from all parts of the globe to promote international peace, disarmament, friendliness, etc. Of 40 of our own Senators and Representatives who are members of the union, seven appeared, or about 17 per cent.

Speakers drolled away in the vast chamber of the lower house to the patient audience of empty seats. Occasionally, in patriotic duty, a grunt of approval would be heard from the few bored and yawning spectators. But mostly the great thoughts of the orators echoed unheeded through the open spaces of the chamber.

Where were the other members? Perhaps it would not be discreet to peer too closely into their whereabouts. It is enough to conjecture that they were promoting the cause of international amity in more informal and certainly more interesting ways.

SAUL'S ARMOR.

Ancient and modern are strongly contrasted in the news, by cable, from Palestine, that the temple of Asherah, in which the conquering Philistines hung up King Saul's battle armor, after killing him and his three sons at the battle of Gilboa, has been uncovered.

Most people are familiar with the oft-repeated story of Saul's adventure with the Witch of Endor. But not so many, perhaps, remember this King's tragic death. It is thus told, in part, by Dr. James Moffatt, in his recent new translation of the Old Testament: "The Philistines overtook Saul and his sons; they slew Jonathan, Abinadab and Malchishua, Saul's sons. Saul himself was hard pressed in the fight; the archers got at him, and he was badly wounded by them. Then Saul said to his armor bearer, 'Draw your sword and run me through, lest these uncircumcised creatures come and make a fool of me.' But his armor bearer would not, he was terrified. So Saul took his own sword and fell on it."

That the armor must have been heavy is shown by the King having an armor bearer to carry a part of it. A statue of Asherah and other objects have been found in the temple. Now if the explorers find some armor, we may at least suppose it to be some of Saul's famous equipment.

SOCRATES AND HIS PUPILS.

Socrates: I suppose you young men have been reading that New York has probably become a national menace?

Glaucous: Yes. We were wondering what could be done about it in case that is true. Socrates: I suppose our different societies for ameliorating the population will look after it if the fact is established. We might establish an economic blockade and not send New York any money, which would bring her up with a round turn.

Polemarchus: I imagine so. The difficulty would be that people in sympathy with New York would bootleg money into the city.

Socrates: No doubt. Bootlegging one thing and another into New York has become one of our big industries.

Thrasymachus: You have something in mind about it?

Socrates: Yes. What I was thinking is that if the Russians could make St. Petersburg a second-class city the very name of which is unfamiliar to most of us, isn't it thinkable that by consolidating their cause our reformers might do the same thing to New York? I suppose it would surprise us to learn how many societies and associations we have that quite agree with the Methodist or whoever complains that New York is a national menace. If all these people got together and cut New York off, it could not be long until she succumbed to the American Moscow. Suppose the [Ku Klux Klan, the Antislavery League, the Agglutinated Womers, the Lord's Day Association, the Anti-Darwin Society, the Ancient and Honorable Society of Sodapoppy, the Amalgamated Brotherhood of Fundamentals, the Neo-Bryantides, the Double-see-tee-you're-it, the Society for the Suppression of Joy on Earth, the Consecrated Disorder of Political Taboo Cakes, and the Luthurians Guild of Unutterable Glooms all refused to have anything to do with New York, even to the least relation of this cheerless life. Do you suppose the city could hold out?

Glaucous: No.

Socrates: Do you imagine there would be any great difference between the Winter Garden and the Winter Palace?

Glaucous: None.

Socrates: Certainly not. New York ought to think of that, shouldn't you say?

Polemarchus: Jove, yes.

Socrates: It would not be a bad idea for her to realize how terribly in earnest these people are and what excellent accounts they have from time to time given of themselves in the history of this eventful sphere.

Thrasymachus: You don't imagine New York would take it seriously do you?

Socrates: No more seriously. I should say, than St. Petersburg took it. Or say Sodom and Gomorrah. Do you recall what the name of St. Petersburg is just now?

Glaucous: No. Anyway, you have it, I think.

Socrates: Very well. Now let us match pennies to see who goes for wood.

The troubles of Col. Procter of Ivory Soap fame are rooted in one of the prevailing fallacies of our time. The Colonel was a supporter of Gen. Wood, and he thought the Republican nomination for the presidency could be bought. Like most big business men in our material nation, it never occurred to him that there is a way to get anything other than to buy it. He put a half million into the Wood fund. The General's press was eloquent, his headquarters the finest in Chicago, his eloquence as precisely trained as a college, a fine club, only one thing was wrong—the nomination went to Mr. Harding, who had virtually no campaign fund and had been also running at Republican national conventions since Tice was a pup. The Wood people were stunned. They thought it was a barrel race between them and the Lowden people, and so it had been until Boies Penrose, who had been to college and heard some old professor say that aristocratic politics cannot go beyond a point without causing a reaction such as the one which blew off so many fine heads in France, called a halt and gave the word to nominate Harding. Boies saw it would not do. Col. Procter did not know this. He had not taken the course in political science. He knew of such things only what he had learned around the soap works, and that isn't where you learn political science.

St. Immediately north of the Thirteenth street entrance of Christ Church are two narrow windows. Midway between and about four feet above them there are three stones, which are a part of the wall of the structure, but are arranged in such a manner that they form a perfect cross. Just why the architect planned to set them this way is hard to say, for, as they are of the same kind of stone as the rest of the wall and are set flush with it, they must have been when the walls were new and clean, almost unnoticeable.

But for some reason not known they now stand out in quite bold relief. For, while the stones around them are more or less disfigured with grime and soot, these three seem to have defied the efforts of age and smoke to sully them; and while they are not exactly clean, their contrast with the surrounding dark background is quite striking.

If this building were in India or in any other country where superstition is rife, this would perhaps be looked upon as a miracle, indeed. People would flock from miles around and view it with awe and wonder.

However, no one notices it here, and if they did it would only be thought a mere coincidence.

St. There came to us last night certain of your opinions of the Senatorial timber used by Missouri past and present. Reading down the article with many nods of agreement I came to the "pitilessness but."

Wonder: Was the linotype operator a Benoitian Missourian, or is the expression another evolutionary result?

After all we have heard about keeping cool with Coolidge, it almost does for one's cracked lip to read that when the President and his wife visited the local zoo, Mrs. Coolidge went back a second time to see the polar bears. She was probably home-sick.

VIRGINIA AND FLORIDA.

From the Baltimore Evening Sun.
 OLD VIRGINIA never tires. If the historically non-Nordic State of Florida imagined that she could without a struggle attract the sons of the Old Dominion to their firesides to chase will-o'-the-wisp tunes, she has been greatly mistaken. There are still a few kicks left in the old horse.

In no other way is it possible to explain the organization of a body to be known as "Virginia Peninsula, Inc." which is a veritable verities of that part of the peninsula in which the historic Jamestown and Yorktown and between the Potomac and the James rivers. The history of the corporation does not mention Florida, but anyone can guess that defense against Florida menace is the chief object of the incorporation. Signs of renewed faith in that ancient domain which justify the title of "Cradle of the Republic" are of course, welcome. But it may be said that this new zeal is not misplaced. The quick schemes that Florida offers are likely to be the kind that would prove costly citizens if they remained at home.

TRIBUTE OF THE A. P. TO VICTOR F. LAWSON

Late Chicago Publisher Enlarged as Newspaperman of High Ideals.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—A tribute to Victor Fremont Lawson was adopted unanimously yesterday by the Board of Directors of the Associated Press as the first action of the first meeting held since his death. representing diverse opinions and interests, cooperate in demonstrating that brethren can dwell

REPORT TO CHURCH MEETING

UPHOLDS LEAGUE OF NATIONS
Methodist Conference Committee
Also Gives Approval to International Court.

By the Associated Press.
ELGIN, Ill., Oct. 8.—The public policy committee's report to the eighty-sixth annual session of the Rock River conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, states in part:

"We believe that the League of Nations has justified itself by its good works and must be judged by its successes, rather than by its failures."

"We heartily approve President Coolidge's proposal to put the United States into the international court, and urge the support of this proposal by our Illinois representatives and Senators."

"We believe that foreign interference in the affairs of China should be vigorously opposed by the Chinese people."

"We deplore the discrimination against Japan in our recent immigration act. This discrimination, together with the naval maneuvers about Hawaii, the visit of our fleet to Australia and our nationwide program of military training of civilians, has served to destroy a large measure of the good will long and patiently developed between Oriental nations and the United States."

"Motion pictures may be productive of good or evil, but up to date the balance of influence exerted by motion pictures is on the side of evil," the report states.

"Decrying the scourge of crime in the United States, the report points out as a possible relief:

"We believe the church can best serve the cause of law and order by laying down a definite program to create a larger measure of self-control in the home, an intelligent promotion of religious education, the creation of public conscience that will manifest itself in scrupulous observance of the law, pressure upon public officials to be faithful and intelligent in the discharge of their duties and such active use of the ballot as shall guarantee efficient and dependable public servants."

"We affirm our faith in national prohibition."

JURY UNABLE TO AGREE

ON DIVORCE VERDICT

Belleville Policeman Accused Wife of Cruelty and She Said He Was Stupid.

After it had deliberated six hours in a divorce case without agreeing on a verdict, a jury in Circuit Court at Belleville was discharged last evening. It was reported six members favored a divorce for the husband, while the other six favored a decree for the wife on her cross-bill.

Patrolman Henry A. Reichling, member of the Belleville police force for 10 years, brought the action, charging cruelty, and Mrs. Emma Reichling Reichling filed cross charges. They were married Oct. 13, 1913, and separated April 8 last.

Reichling testified his wife threw dishes and an ice pick at him, and once grabbed his revolver, which he carried for her. He said he gave her $10 a week for her use, but she accused him of being stingy. Mrs. Reichling testified he gave her only 50 cents now and then, throwing this under a table to make her crawl for it.

LONG LINES OF PERSONS AT

LAWN WAIT TO BUY VODKA

Moscow Residents, on Convivial Rampage, Tax Capacity of Government Distilleries.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, Oct. 8.—Public demand for alcoholic stimulants after 11 years of partial prohibition, still is so great that each week finds long lines of persons in front of the wine shops and grocery stores selling the newly legalized 40 per cent vodka.

These queues are in some cases greater even than the bread lines, according to American relief workers who served in Russia during the famine period of 1919-21.

Moscow's legions of vodka drinkers, who for long have had to be satisfied with a crude home-distilled spirit, with the fear of arrest constantly upon them, have been on a convivial rampage since last Sunday, when the pre-war drink made its reappearance.

Statistical experts estimate that this far this week more than 5,000,000 quarts of vodka have been consumed throughout Russia. Unless the thirsty ones soon reach "the point of saturation," these experts say, it is doubtful whether the Government distilleries will be able to cope with such a prodigious demand.

There now is virtually no restrictive legislation concerning the sale of alcohol. There are no early closing hours, and everybody, except children, may buy the new vodka which, although increased to 40 per cent alcoholic strength, has been reduced in price to the equivalent of 40 cents a pint.

Aerial Police Force for Chicago.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—A mobile aerial police force, subject to duty on the order of Police Chief Collins, has been organized by 500 veteran flyers, who will operate from Chicago's new military aircraft depot, recently authorized by Major General Mason Patrick, air service head. Capt. Roy W. Amiel, of the Air Service Officers' Association in the Sixth Corps area, who tendered the offer of service, said plans would be worked out whereby the entire force of 500 could be mobilized in a short time. They would patrol country roads frequented by liquor runners and aid in pursuit of motor-equipped bank robbers and holdup men.

ST. LOUIS-CHICAGO
AIR MAIL SERVICE
READY IN 60 DAYSInstallation of Beacons for Night Flying Expected to Be Completed in That Time.The opportunity to establish a regular passenger service to Springfield, Ill., and Chicago is seen by William B. Robertson, president of the Robertson Aircraft Corporation, in the award of the Chicago-St. Louis air mail contract yesterday to his company.Under the terms of the contract
the Robertson Aircraft Corporation is to get 6.75 cents for each ounce of freight that is transported between the two cities.
In addition the company has the privilege of handling all the passenger and freight business it can get.The proposed schedule for the Chicago-St. Louis line provides for departure from Chicago at 5:45 a. m., a stop at Springfield at 7:55
a. m. and arrival in St. Louis at 8:50.
Mail ships will leave Lambert-St.
Louis field daily at 4:20 p. m., arrive at Springfield at 6:25 and arrive at Chicago at 7:25.

To Use Curtiss Planes.

We will put Curtiss Oracles into operation on the line as soon as we can get the airway lighted for night flying," Robertson said today.
"Blinking beacons will be installed in four-mile intervals along the route and every 25-mile interval will be marked with a big revolving beacon and an emergency landing field. Under the most favorable conditions the airway could be lighted within a month, but it is hardly likely that we will be able to get the lights and lay out the route under present conditions in less than 60 days."The Oracles are capable of carrying 400 pounds of mail. If business justifies it we have three De-Havillands ready and two more under construction to put in operation on the route. And if, after the route has been used for some months, there arises a demand for passenger service we have two Martin bombers in our warehouse at Dallas, Tex.

Aids Commercial Aviation.

The establishment of the mail route here an end of the contract routes in other parts of the country is the greatest stimulus commercial aviation has ever received in the United States. It means that companies are to have an assured source of income as long as they operate on lines successfully and it also means the beginning of a movement which will in time criss-cross the country with airways, lighted at night and equipped with plenty of emergency landing fields.The shuttle line between here and Chicago will not only give three-hour service between the cities but will also offer one-day service to New York and 24-hour service to San Francisco.Mail leaving here in the afternoon will be taken up by the transcontinental plane at Chicago and deposited in New York at 8:30 a.
m. the next day for delivery in the first mail of the day. Mail leaving New York in the late afternoon will arrive here the next morning. The postage will be 15 cents an ounce, 10 cents for the shuttle route and 4 cents for the trip over the transcontinental line.Rates to West Coast.
Mail leaving here in the afternoon will be carried to Los Angeles by the afternoon of the following day. The postage for West Coast points will be 20 cents.Robertson said today that a load of 200 pounds of mail each way would enable him to operate his line at a profit. Such a load would net the aircraft corporation $432.

FINE ARTS SCHOOL FACULTY INCREASED AT MISSOURI U.

Six New Instructors Have Been Appointed for Present School Year.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 3.—Continuing its plan of building up the new School of Fine Arts started at the University of Missouri in 1924, the university has added six new members to the fine arts faculty for the present school year. Two of the appointees were already members of the university faculty in other divisions. They are Miss Gertrude Heinrich and Henry S. Bill, both of whom will teach theory and practice of art. The other four are: Miss Emma E. Griessel, soprano, a pupil of Oscar Seagle and Jean de Reszke, and formerly an instructor in the well-known music division of Bethany College, Lindsborg, Kan.; Alice E. Tuiler, instructor in piano, a graduate of Hillsdale (Mich.) College and the University of Michigan, and for the past five years head of the piano department in Santiago College, Chile; Rogers Whitmore, instructor in violin, a graduate of the Conservatory of Music at Ithaca, N. Y., a pupil of Sevek, Cesar Thompson, and Leopold Auer; Mrs. Margaret Tello, instructor in harmony and piano, a graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and formerly a teacher in the Michigan State schools.

PLANS APPROVED FOR
MISSOURI U. STADIUM

Work on Memorial Will Be Started Late This Fall, It Is Announced.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 3.—Actual work on the Memorial Stadium for the University of Missouri will be started late this fall. It is announced here following the action of Judge James E. Goodrich of Kansas City approving the plans for the location, construction and financing of the Memorial Stadium.

The stadium project, which has been under consideration for the last three years, now nears realization. Every legal technicality in reference to financing the structure is out of the way. During the last three years the drives that were conducted by the University Memorial Committee for the Memorial Tower and Stadium have made the financing of the proposition possible. Three hundred thousand dollars have been subscribed to the stadium fund, but due to the fact most of the subscriptions were made payable over a period of years, it was necessary to secure funds for immediate building.

These funds, amounting to $200,000, have been obtained through a bond issue underwritten by the Commerce Trust Co. of Kansas City. The bonds are to run serially over a period of 10 years and to be liquidated from funds obtained from subscriptions and a percentage of the athletic receipts, which will be put in the hands of a trustee.

Unit to Be Built by September. The plans, that are ready to be put in the hands of the building interests, call for the completion of the two major wings, the south end of the stadium by September, 1929. In the contract, it is especially stressed that the playing field, entrances and exits are to be skilfully completed before the football season of 1929. It is quite probable that the opening game of the season of 1929 will be played in the new stadium. The formal dedication probably will be held at a later date.

The Stadium is to be built between Providence Road and what would be the continuation of Maryland avenue. The north edge of the stadium will be along the south edge of the university golf course. The plans that have been developed and presented to the Board of Curators by the Stadium Committee, which is composed of Chester L. Brewer, director of athletics, as chairman; E. Sydney Stephens, Frank B. Rollins, S. F. Conley and W. G. Manly call for the widening of Maryland avenue from Rollins street to the Stadium entrance. The line of travel will be used by the students of the university and the townspeople who will walk to the games, while Providence road entrance will be used for motor car traffic.

In drawing the plans for the Stadium, Director Brewer and the architects Jameson and Spearl of St. Louis have visited every stadium in the United States. A careful study of all were made and Missouri will have the combined features of the best in the United States. The stadium of the Universities of Nebraska, California, Illinois and Ohio were given careful study and the architects in conjunction with the stadium committee, obtained many good ideas from them.

98,575 Seats When Completed. The new stadium will be built in the shape of a horseshoe, with the south end left open. The first unit to be built will cost $200,000. It will be 35 rows high on the west and east sides. The first unit will afford seats for 25,000 people and the additional bleacher seats will raise the capacity to 35,000. As the demand for additional seats confronts the stadium committee, the second unit will be finished. This will raise the capacity to 55,000. The third unit to 75,000. With the final completion there will be a seating capacity of 98,575.

It is the plan of the Board of Curators as well as the athletic officials that the new Memorial Stadium be used for a great many of the University activities where heretofore lack of space has kept crowds away. Mass meetings, conventions and commencement exercises may be held in the new structure, if those in charge of the exercises desire.

The new stadium will not be built by any State appropriation of money. Three hundred thousand dollars, the amount set aside from the Memorial Union and Stadium campaigns for a stadium comes from gifts. The immediate construction comes as a result of an advance in funds by a Kansas City bank until these pledges are collected.

New School for London Actors. Correspondence of the Associated Press. LONDON, Sept. 14.—The University of London will have a new sort of drama and theater school in the theatrical productions of which such actors and producers as Granville Barker, Nigel Playfair, Edith Craig and Basil Dean will play a prominent part. An old gymnasium at East London College has been converted into a theater seating 400 persons and will be utilized for producing eighteenth-century dramas which are little known. No appeal will be made to undergraduate students. All lectures and plays will be prepared with the thought of interesting actors and dramatists.

WEATHER IN MISSOURI

WARMER THAN NORMAL

Generally Unfavorable for Usual Seasonal Farm Operations in Week Ending Oct. 2.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 3.—In Missouri the weather was generally cloudy and wet, and generally unfavorable for the usual seasonal farm operations.

Soaked ground has held up and stepped corn gathering and wheat sowing in most of the state. There now is water enough in the soil to answer all purposes for the next few months without any rain.

In clear weather the need now is for plowing for wheat has yet to be done. From one-tenth to one-fourth of the crop is in the ground. The first sown, however, is coming nicely. The wet weather has not yet materially damaged corn in shock.

Pastures are making fine growth and promise fine fall and winter grazing. There will be another cutting of alfalfa if weather conditions permit. Picking apples is nearing completion in the commercial orchards. In the cotton country, rains have stopped picking but only slight damage has been done to open bolls.

MOFFETT ANSWERS MITCHELL'S CHARGES

Says Parachutes Were Not Practical for Shenandoah—PN-9 Had Excess Fuel.

By CHARLES R. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The Navy, in the person of Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, hit back hard at the charges of Col. William Mitchell. Testifying for the second time before the President's Air Inquiry Board, Admiral Moffett yesterday took up categorically the criticisms by Mitchell relating to the lack of parachutes on the Shenandoah, the MacMillan Arctic expedition, the attempted Hawaiian flight and other matters. He did not mention Mitchell's name. Aviation Necessary to Fleet. "Aviation," he said, "will settle the next naval war. It is of transcendent importance. The Army may get along without it; the fleet never. The fleet that is supreme in aviation will win. I am for surface and submarine ships, but ships without aviation would be crippled and destroyed." Telling of aviation progress made by the Navy in the last four years, Moffett said it was the only navy in the world that had reached the point of successfully operating airplanes from the decks of battleships and cruisers by means of catapults. For this purpose, a special type of plane had been developed.

Question of Parachute.
Coming to the statement by Mitchell that the sending of the Shenandoah on its western trip without parachutes was "inexcusable," the Admiral explained the practice of the navy with regard both to airplanes and airships. He said the navy required flyers in airplanes to wear parachutes wherever available. One thousand parachutes were now in service. Some pilots, he said, preferred not to wear them and in the case of lighter-than-air rigid aircraft, Moffett continued, it was not the practice in this country, in England or Germany, to carry parachutes; first, because the personnel had to move about rapidly and would be hampered by parachutes strapped about their bodies, and, second, because it was doubtful whether parachutes could be got clear of the ship. He said that parachutes had been installed on the Shenandoah but had been removed on account of their hampering effect on the crew.

PN-9 Carried Excess of Fuel.
Moffett testified that the PN-9 No. 1, on its attempted flight to Hawaii, carried a two-hour excess of gasoline over what had been required. "That may seem a small margin of safety," he commented, "but the naval aviator has not yet reached the stage where he is willing to undertake only the sure thing, and I hope that he will never reach it."

Naval Witnesses Differ on Col. Mitchell's Plan.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Col. William Mitchell's plan for a sweeping reorganization in the nation's air defense alternately was praised and denounced before the President's airboard yesterday.

Two witnesses favored the plan, two opposed it, one said it "ought to work" but he "didn't believe it would," while another was not questioned on the proposal. Capt. James T. Moore, of the Marine Corps, testified that many junior naval officers were hesitant to give personal views to investigating bodies, despite their assertions to the contrary.

Major Thomas Milling, stationed at McCook Field, Dayton, O., who was called at Mitchell's request, endorsed the Colonel's national defense department proposal. He testified at length, amplifying a prepared statement by exhibiting several charts designed to outline the functions of army, navy and air forces under the proposed defense system.

Fleet Commander Testifies.
Rear Admiral Charles F. Hughes, commander of the battle fleet, opposed a separate naval air corps, but made clear he did not "belittle the airplane," which, he asserted, was a "most important arm of the navy, but one I want under my command and loyal to me." Capt. G. W. Steele Jr., commandant of the Lakehurst naval air station, testified that lighter-than-air craft had a definite future as part of the scouting and communication arm of the navy. He saw little prospect, however, of its development as a combat weapon or its extensive use as an airplane carrier or fuel supply ship.

He opposed the proposal for a department of national defense and a separate naval air corps. Maj. E. H. Brainard, commander of Marine Corps aviation, said Mitchell's plan showed work satisfactorily and aid in aviation development, but he doubted it "would work" because of conditions in the army and navy.

Part of Admiral Hughes' testimony dealt with the effectiveness of airplane bombing and anti-aircraft ground fire and was heard in executive session. The Admiral, however, said in open session that "anti-aircraft fire is advancing faster than aviation."

ST. LOUIS LEGISLATORS TO DISCUSS REVENUE

Governor's Plan for Increasing State Income to Be Considered Monday.

A meeting of the 19 St. Louis members of the Missouri House of Representatives has been called for Monday evening by Henri Chouteau, chairman, to discuss the new revenue program formulated several days ago at a conference called by Gov. Baker. It is the Governor's intention to have the plan, which deals almost solely with revenues for educational purposes, submitted by initiative petition.

Under the proposal outlined by the Governor's conference, the Legislature would have no part in its enactment, and about all the St. Louis legislature could do would be to submit their ideas with a request that they be incorporated.

Chouteau would have the income and inheritance taxes abolished on the ground that through them St. Louis pays far more than its just proportion of taxes. There is little likelihood, however, that the State at large would abandon this productive method of obtaining funds for State purposes.

The legislators at the Monday conference also will consider a suggestion that funds be solicited to conduct a survey of economic waste in the State departments. In a letter to members, Chouteau directed attention to the unnecessary reports published at great expense and the fact that in many departments employees on full pay have only enough work to occupy them one-quarter or one-half time.

His letter also directed attention to useless legislative clerks, and although he only mentioned the payment of many Senate clerks who never were even in Jefferson City, his objection would apply equally to the House and to several of the St. Louis members, who at the last session regularly received and resented for vouchers issued in the names of clerks they had placed on the payroll.

ADVOCATES EDUCATION OF MEN IN HOME ECONOMY

Columbia Professor Says Such Training Would do Much to Eliminate Waste.

Education of both men and women in domestic economy, would do much to prevent waste in the home, Maurice A. Bigelow, household arts professor of Columbia University said in an address yesterday before the Wednesday Club at its headquarters, Taylor avenue and Westminster place.

Dr. Bigelow said there was great waste in every home not only in food and money, but in the intangible things such as the opportunity for esthetic development and through poor health.

The meeting was the first of the fall season. Frank J. Bruno, professor of sociology at Washington University, lectured on "The Family as the Conservator of Social Heritage." An address on the subject given earlier in the week by Prof. Bruno at Vincennes, Ind., was reported in the Post-Dispatch.

SIX MONTHS FOR MAN WHO FAILED TO PAY ALIMONY

Repents in Court, but Judge Rejects Promise of Future Payment.

"If the Judge puts me in jail, he will have to pay my board," said Thomas Lada to Deputy Sheriff Ames of East St. Louis, when the deputy arrested him yesterday at his home, 417 Pigott avenue. But Lada, probably confused over the Illinois debt law, was wrong. He got six months and will have to work for his board.

Lada failed to pay his wife $10 a week alimony for a care of their two small children after she had been granted a divorce last month. Yesterday she complained to Judge William Borders of the City Court, in East St. Louis, that he had since threatened her life.

When arraigned, Lada changed his mind and said he would pay. "You are too late, now. You have disregarded the order of this Court," said Judge Borders.

CHILD, 4, FALLS INTO TUB OF BOILING WATER

Mother, Preparing to Give Her a Bath, Had Gone From Room.

Dorothy Larreson, 4 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Larreson, of 2020 Biddle street, was severely scalded at 7:30 p. m. yesterday, when she fell from a chair into a tub of boiling water. She is at City Hospital.

Mrs. Ruth Larreson, mother of the child, told policemen she had put the tub on the floor preparing to give the child a bath. When she went to the kitchen to get cold water, she said, the child fell off the chair.

Ship Explosion Laid to Detonator

LONDON, Oct. 3.—A message from the steamer Roman Star, from Capetown, for London, says an explosion which occurred on board while the vessel was off the French coast last night and which caused the death of one fireman and the injury of three others, is believed to have been caused by a detonator concealed in the coal. The Roman Star had great difficulty in clearing from South Africa owing to the shipping strike. She has a cargo of oranges.

PRESIDENT'S TRAIN DELAYED BY WRECK

Detour Made Necessary by Smash-Up of 25 Freight Cars in West Virginia.

By The Associated Press. Oct. 8.—President Coolidge returned to the White House early today from Omaha, Neb., where he attended the American Legion convention.

By The Associated Press. Oct. 8.—PRESIDENT COOLIDGE'S TRAIN EN ROUTE TO WASH-INGTON, MARTINSBURG, W. Va.,
Oct. 8.—A freight wreck near Sir John's Run, W. Va., early today delayed the train on which President Coolidge is returning to Washington from Omaha and forced a detour.

President and Mrs. Coolidge were in no danger, as the wreck occurred more than an hour before their train, stopped at some distance from the scene, was due.

The presidential train, which had been running on time throughout the long trip to and from Omaha, nearly Sir John's Run, 102 miles west of Washington, at dawn only to find traffic completely blocked by a smashup of 25 freight cars which littered the tracks.
Trainmen said there had been no one killed or injured.

Baltimore & Ohio Railroad officials, realizing there would be considerable delay in clearing a passage for the President's train, immediately arranged for a detour over the almost parallel tracks of the Western Maryland. The train was backed a short distance over a connecting link to Green Ridge, W.
Va., and delayed 20 more minutes while the track ahead was being cleared and a Western Maryland engineer obtained to pilot the train.
After a 32-mile detour, the train got back on the Baltimore & Ohio tracks at Cherry Run, W. Va., 14 miles west of Martinsburg, and passed through here one and a half hours late.

The President and Mrs. Coolidge knew nothing of the wreck and the delay of their train until they arose for breakfast as their special was being detoured.

Enthusiastic crowds were out to welcome the President last night at several points in southern Ohio.
At Chillicothe, a throng gathered around the observation platform during a five-minute stop and while the President came out to smile and acknowledge cheers, he adhered to his rule not to make rear-platform speeches. At Athens a group of Pi Beta Phi sorority girls led in the welcome by giving their sorority yell. Mrs. Coolidge, who is a member of the society, laughingly led the cheer from the observation platform, the President smiling broadly at her efforts as a cheer leader.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge enjoyed another moving picture showing with the dining car converted into a theater.

800 OPERATORS ON A. P. WIRE FROM BASEBALL PARK

News Service Breaks Four Records, Operating Longest Single Telegraph Circuit.

By The Associated Press. NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The Associated Press broke four records in handling news of the championship baseball game yesterday.

It operated the longest single telegraph circuit on record, never before had so many operators worked on a single wire, more player score boards were linked to the wire than at any other time, and for the first time in history 80 broadcasting stations permeated the air with reports received over the same wire.

The entire leased wire system of the Associated Press, linking up more than 400 cities throughout the United States and extending into Eastern Canada and Cuba was connected directly into the Pittsburgh ball park. The dispatches transmitted from the park traversed more than 46,500 miles of space as they found their way to the various newspaper offices the country over.
At the same time 30 broadcasting stations and 150 player score boards were also connected to the wire.
The operation of the circuit was carried out without mishap.

The largest force of press telegraphers in the world gave their undivided attention to the operation of the wire as the game progressed.
More than 800 of them were assigned to the work of copying the telegraph flashes of the one Associated Press operator at the ball field, who clicked off the plays dictated to him by the reporters. No loop hole was left uncovered in the supervision of the service and 80 men in the various relay bureaus in addition to force of the telegraph company concentrated their attention on the signals going over the wire so as to prevent the possibility of delay which might be caused by any one of the 800 connections.

With the first signal sent over the wire went the order "no breaking" which meant that 800 men knew they had to translate every dot and dash without interrupting the man at the ball park. This required their closest attention to the work during the entire period. The wire never was permitted to remain idle for a second. When the operator had nothing to send he continued transmitting a set signal

Packard Six Owners Are Loyal to Packard

PERHAPS you have wondered why so few Packard Six cars are offered for sale by used car dealers.

The reason is that 98 out of every 100
Packard Six owners remain loyal to Packard. They never give up their cars for any other make.

Records recently compiled in 51 representative cities, both large and small, in every section of the Union and in Canada, show that out of all the Packard Six cars sold during the past five years only 2 out of every 100 have been replaced.

As these replacements were generally for reasons having nothing to do with either car or service, the chances are really 100 to 1 that you too will be satisfied if you buy a Packard Six.

CHICAGO SCHOOL HEAD URGES UNIFORMS FOR THE TEACHERS

McAndrew Also Suggests Idea for Pupils: Pongee Coat. Like Artist's, Favored for Instruction.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Uniforms of a simple, trim designation for all school teachers has been suggested to the Board of Education by Superintendent William McAndrew. He even suggested the pupils should adopt the uniform idea.

If the professional pride of nurses, policemen and soldiers can be enhanced by uniforms, why not that of teachers, who are likewise proud of their vocation? And would not a standard school suit be economical and practical for pupils as well? These questions are seriously raised by the superintendent in an editorial in the latest issue of Educational Review, a New York magazine, of which he is editor.

McAndrew would not expand his idea but said he stood by the editorial.

The idea has met favor when tried in other places, he points out and is likely to spread elsewhere. It is something worth thinking about.

A pongee coat, lavender tinted and cut like that of an artist's smock, is referred to as a suggested style for teachers. Miss Florence Marshall, in charge of one of the most popular high schools in New York, says the editorial has experimented with this type of working suit which was designed by the teachers themselves. A similar frock was adopted by teachers in Scranton, Pa.

Employees in the office of the superintendent have come out in uniforms. Miss Z. Hunsley, secretary, said: "We find that these smocks are the most economical and comfortable things we have worn in the office."

IMMERSION HELD TO BE BASIC DOCTRINE OF CHURCH

Committee Advises Disciples Convention Against Employing Anyone Not Thus Baptized.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 8.—Immersion is a cardinal doctrine of the Disciples of Christ and should be made essential for membership, or employment in any of the church's agencies, a conciliation committee held in a report submitted to the international convention of the church here.

The committee was named last year to seek a way to heal divergent views on doctrinal questions, principally baptism.

It was charged then that the United Christian Missionary Society, representing a union of the church agencies, had employed persons in various capacities who had not been immersed. Many of the liberals in the church supported the view that immersion was unnecessary while others demanded that the formality be complied with.

The fight over immersion is declared to be an outgrowth of the controversy of several years standing over the unification of the various branches of the church under one administrative head.

Most of the church's activities now are centered in St. Louis, the conciliation being the United Christian Missionary Society. There are two departments of the church that have refused to join this amalgamation. Convention leaders declare that the question of the continuation of the United Society is not involved.

WOMAN GIVEN YEAR IN JAIL FOR KILLING ANOTHER

Jury at Jefferson City Deliberated 14 Hours in Fatal Stabbing Case.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 8.—A jury in the Cole County Circuit Court yesterday found Mrs. Pearl Sowards, 19 years old of Burlington, Kan., guilty of manslaughter for the fatal stabbing of Miss Olga Eisenstein here on July 25 last, and fixed her sentence at one year in the Cole County jail. The jury had been deliberating at intervals for 14 hours. The State had asked for a verdict of second degree murder.

Miss Eisenstein was fatally stabbed by Mrs. Sowards in a quarrel in the office of a local dentist, with whom both of the woman had been friendly. The defendant had been in Jefferson City only a few weeks, coming here to be near a brother, serving a sentence in the penitentiary from Carthage.

SUGAR BEETS IN LOUISIANA

Diseases of Cane Prompt Growers to Try Substitute.

By the Associated Press.

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 8.—

Sugar cane, long a staple crop in Louisiana, may lose its eminence

in the list of the State's agricultural products, if sugar beet growing proves successful.

Cane crops have been beset by many plagues, the most recent being the borer and is proving serious. Mosaic disease and root rot have attacked cane. Sugar planters have asked that the sugar house at the new Louisiana State University be provided with machinery for refining beet sugar as a part of the experiment planned next year. More than 100 acres of sugar beets will be planted in various sections of the "sugar belt" of Louisiana next year.

EVANGELICAL SYNOD

HAS OPENING SESSION

President's Report Stresses

Need of Sane and Intelligent Evangelization.

There is a world need for sane and intelligent evangelization, the Rev. Dr. J. Baltzer of St. Louis,

president of the Evangelical Synod of North America, declared today in his quadrennial report at the opening business session of the nineteenth general conference of the church here.

To meet the need, the church

head said, a higher and more diversified program of instruction is required. Forty per cent of Americans youth receives practically no religious education, he asserted, and the ministry is woefully undermaned.

The conference is being held at Friedens Evangelical Church, Nineteenth street and Newhouse avenue.

There was a session of welcome to the delegates and communion service at the church last night. The sessions will continue to next

Thursday. There is a possibility

WIVES TO CHARITY HELD LEGAL IN COURT

Young Men's Hebrew Association Is Given Judgment for Unpaid Subscription.

Don't try to evade the attention of a persistent solicitor for "put down for a hundred," if you mean it. It might prove an expensive evasion.

For a man's word is as good as a bond—under the law—even if he agrees to donate to a charity. Beware the dotted line, and the verbal agreement.

Yesterday, Justice of the Peace rendered a judgment against the Young Men's Hebrew Association. And this is what the judge said:

"A perusal of the law concerning subscriptions to charitable or educational associations convinces this court that the organization to whom the subscription is made can enforce the collection by suit."

To Enforce Payment. "It seems to the court that simply because the contract is made with a view to doing charity as no excuse whatever for a refusal to pay. In these cases before me, it seems that the Y. M. H. A. has expended large sums of money thus in the building of its clubhouse. Under the circumstances, the courts would enforce payment, even though there was no written pledge, as there is in these particular instances."

Bernard did not appear and the Y. M. H. A. got the judgment by default. Five other cases were dismissed by the association, as the defendants had paid their subscriptions in the interim.

Ten Suits Filled. Hyman Kessler, 5795 De Giverville avenue, obtained a continuance until next week. Three others of the 10, against whom suits were filed, have not been served with subpoenas. They are Albert Blumkin, of 223 Washington avenue, B. Gordon, 1123 Washington avenue, and Morris Guber, 116 South Commercial street.

The 10 suits were filed last month against men who had signed pledge cards in 1923 agreeing to give $100 each to the building fund of the Y. M. H. A. The donations were voluntary. The new $500,000 building is now under construction at Union boulevard and Enright avenue.

SAYS CITY MUST PAY FOR REPAIRS TO CLAYTON ROAD

County Engineer Jablonsky Replies to "Holdup" Charges of St. Louis Officials.

The city not only must pay for repairing Clayton road, between Pennsylvania avenue and the Terminal tracks in St. Louis County, but must also compensate the county for its work of maintenance of that section of the highway while city workmen were laying the city water main there.

That was the statement today of County Highway Engineer Jablonsky, who replied to charges by city officials that the county was trying to "hold up" the city on the re-employment of the 7000 feet of road now up in laying its main.

"In the agreement allowing the city to tear up the road to lay its main, the city agreed to replace the road when it had finished," Engineer Jablonsky said. "It has failed to do so, asserting that $25,000 already paid to the county should be used for that purpose."

"Incidentally, the city promised to maintain the south side of the road while it was tearing up the north side. It failed to do so and the county had to do that work. The city must pay us for that, too."

He told the city it would cost $10,000 to replace the road. As an alternative we are ready to replace the road on the work and let the city bidder do it. If the city can do it more cheaply than we are willing to agree to that plan, the city must do the work it engaged itself to do."

FANS PAY TRIBUTE TO CHRISTY MATHEWSON AT SECOND SERIES GAME

Flag Is at Half Mast; Harris Handles His First Chance Cleanly

By J. Roy Stockton.
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 8.—Sobered, but not discouraged by the Pirates' defeat at the hands of the great Walter Johnson, Pittsburgh fans turned out more than 40,000 strong this afternoon, hopeful that the men of Bill McKechnie would even the series by taking the measure of the veteran Stanley Coveleskie in the second game.

Coveleskie, if reports of his condition contain any grain of truth, is suffering from lumbago, vertigo, house maids' knees, charley horse and general senile decay. But age seems to hang lightly on men who don Washington livery. Walter Johnson, 35 years old, and serving his nineteenth year in the majors, hurled so brilliantly that the fans are wondering if all the youth has been served in the series thus far.

Vic Aldridge, obtained from the Cubs in the famous trade which made pennant winners of the Pirates, was McKechnie's pick to check the advance of the American Leaguers toward their second world's title.

Phil Kavanaugh Amazed. An hour before game time the stands were well filled, the only empty spaces being among the higher-priced reserved seats. The bleachers again filled early. Those present at this series have remarked that the spectators here are the calmest in the history of world series.

The crowd today was as quiet. The Pirates and Senators went through batting and fielding practice without any cheers from the stands, though Gossin and Traynor warmed the benches with dashes which would have been applauded even in blasé New York.

Flag at Half Mast. The flag at Forbes Field today was at half mast out of respect for Christy Mathewson who died last night at Saranac Lake.

Souvenir hunters overran the field before the game, obtaining signatures of ball players on score cards, baseballs and pennants. Among the things behind the scenes of the field were "One-Kyed" Connelly, the famous game cracker, and Al Lang of St. Petersburg, press agent for all of Florida.

The umpires shifted today, putting Owens behind the plate. McCormick at first base, Moriarty at second and Rigler at third.

Just before the game the players, led by a band, marched to center field, where the flag was raised and then lowered to half mast. The players were mourning hands on their sleeves.

Grantham Saves Wright. First Baseman Grantham pulled a few throw out of the dust to save Wright from an error on the first play of the game, on Rice's ground out to short. Aldridge was wild at the start, but with a call of three balls and one strike, he put two over the plate. Aldridge then drew a cheer from the stands when he struck out Harris, feeling the lead.

Moore started the Pirate half with a grounder to Peck and then Coveleskie fooled Carey with a curve that slipped over the plate for a called strike. Bucky Harris accepted his first chance of the series on a batted ball when he took Cuyler's hopper and threw him out. Bucky threw a bit awkwardly, but got his man. As in yesterday's game, a home run was the first score. Joe Judge, leading off the second inning with a drive into the right field seats. Joe missed first base as he started around the sacks, but he retraced his steps and then made the circuit.

Harris too Ambitious. Joe Harris, batting hero of the first game, followed with a line single to center, but became too ambitious and was nipped trying to steal second, though Smith's throw to Moore was a trifle high. Bluege tied to Barnhart and then Grantham made a fine play on Peck's grounder, taking Traynor's wide throw, and Bluege made a fine stop of Traynor's hot grounder and threw him out. Wright then singled to right for the first hit off the veteran, and went to second when Ruel, eager to nip Wright off the bag, let the ball slip out of his hand. He was charged with a passed ball. Grantham grounded to Harris and Wright was left.

Aldridge had his curves breaking effectively in the third, but put himself in danger by his nervousness. He struck out Ruel and Coveleskie to start the inning and then Rice punched a single out to center. Rice broke for second base and Aldridge, not knowing what to

Brewer Suggests Score Boards at Football Games

Spectators Should Be Informed About Confusing Plays, He Writes.

By Chester L. Brewer.
Director of Athletics at the University of Missouri.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 8.—Fans speak of Eastern football or Western football. Why? What is the difference? The answer is that there is no difference at least in methods or system or styles. Football is football no matter where you go and whatever the system or style it is the men and the way it is played that counts.

Nebraska's defeat of Illinois shows the force that lies in the teams of the Missouri Valley Conference—the child of the parent Western Conference. It points to the fact that football is gaining strength wherever it is played regardless of conferences or sections. Here in the valley conference, 10 strong teams all look like champions.

What is more important—the contests of Saturday showed that the game this year appeals. It is called for dash, alertness, speed, quick action, instantaneous judgment and physical response. What a cheer from the fans when the players of the Senators on a sharp breaking curve that Bucky missed by several inches. Gossin connected solidly, but the drive was high and Carey had plenty of time to camp under it when he hit.

Moore started the Pirate half with a grounder to Peck and then Coveleskie fooled Carey with a curve that slipped over the plate for a called strike. NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Latest reports from college football camps indicate that the teams are in good shape for Saturday's program which brings together for the first time this season the strongest teams in the East.

Babe Ruth Says:

PITTSBURG, Oct. 8.—Staring up a ball game like the one yesterday is a bit tough. It was so much Johnson that the doing of the other boys looked pretty small. In fact, after the fifth, it was just a breeze in with Johnson setting the pace.

I have watched Walter Johnson pitch a lot of ball games, and I have played against him a lot of times, but I don't believe I ever saw him when he was better. Aside from Johnson it was "Pie" Traynor, who grabbed off the big honor. That boy is a ball player.

Nebraska's defeat of Illinois shows the force that lies in the teams of the Missouri Valley Conference—the child of the parent Western Conference. It points to the fact that football is gaining strength wherever it is played regardless of conferences or sections. Here in the valley conference, 10 strong teams all look like champions.

What is more important—the contests of Saturday showed that the game this year appeals. It is called for dash, alertness, speed, quick action, instantaneous judgment and physical response. What a cheer from the fans when the players of the Senators on a sharp breaking curve that Bucky missed by several inches. Gossin connected solidly, but the drive was high and Carey had plenty of time to camp under it when he hit.

Moore started the Pirate half with a grounder to Peck and then Coveleskie fooled Carey with a curve that slipped over the plate for a called strike. Bucky Harris accepted his first chance of the series on a batted ball when he took Cuyler's hopper and threw him out. Bucky threw a bit awkwardly, but got his man. As in yesterday's game, a home run was the first score. Joe Judge, leading off the second inning with a drive into the right field seats. Joe missed first base as he started around the sacks, but he retraced his steps and then made the circuit.

Harris too Ambitious. Joe Harris, batting hero of the first game, followed with a line single to center, but became too ambitious and was nipped trying to steal second, though Smith's throw to Moore was a trifle high. Bluege tied to Barnhart and then Grantham made a fine play on Peck's grounder, taking Traynor's wide throw, and Bluege made a fine stop of Traynor's hot grounder and threw him out. Wright then singled to right for the first hit off the veteran, and went to second when Ruel, eager to nip Wright off the bag, let the ball slip out of his hand. He was charged with a passed ball. Grantham grounded to Harris and Wright was left.

Mathewson's Death Shocks Baseball World

Late Reports Had Him Improved — "Best Loved Man in Baseball."

By Hans Wagner.
Pittsburgh's 1909 Shortstop.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 8.—In saying up the opening game of the 1925 world's series, it looked to me like simply a case of too much Walter Johnson. The big Washington ace was surely going some, and his mastery of the Pirates was the outstanding feature.

For about four innings he kept using his fast ball over the plate and keeping his curve away. About the fifth inning, he started a s l i n g more curves, putting them right over while he kept his fast ball away.

I have an idea that the temporary stands in center field helped Johnson. There were three up-rights in those stands, located directly on a line behind the pitcher and the batter. I believe that when Walter was using his sidearm ball, pitching against that background, the sweep of his arm out through about three of those up-rights within the vision of the Buccaneers, before he let go of the ball.

The spectators in the stands out him back after a brief troyout for more seasoning with the Southern club. Later the same year he was drafted by Cincinnati, but afterward was sent to the Giants in a deal by which the Reds secured Amos Rusie.

His first major league appearance was in the role of relief pitcher in a game lost by the Giants to Brooklyn.

He had but indifferent success as a pitcher and utility player until 1901, when John McGraw succeeded Horace Pugh as manager of the Giants. McGraw was playing first base at the time but McGraw quickly recognized his pitching ability and took him in hand. His strides toward greatness dated from that period.

He pitched two no-hit games, one against the St. Louis Cardinals, in 1901, and the second against the Chicago Cubs in 1905.

McGraw was a graduate of Bucknell College and as a student starred in both football and baseball there. After leaving college he joined the Taunton (Mass.) club of the New England League but was not a successful pitcher because of lack of control. It was said of him that he conquered this weakness by spending hours of solitary practice, throwing a baseball at a board fence until he could put it in a foot circle sixty feet away nine times out of 10.

At the top of his career he was unequalled for control and won as many games by his craft in pitching to a batter's weakness as to his marvelous curve, his moderate speed and his teasing slow ball. He next went to Norfolk in the Virginia League, and after winning 21 of 23 games in 1901 was bought by the Giants. He was sent back to the minors for more training but returned to the Giants via the deal with a deal with the Cincinnati Reds.

His conduct through 27 years of active baseball life made him known as the "best loved man in baseball."

45 Years Old; Leaves One Son. Matty was but 45 years old. Until a few days ago, according to his physician, Dr. Edward H. Packard, the veteran pitcher had an excellent chance of recovery, but he encountered a sudden relapse and his weakened physique was not equal to the enemy.

Mrs. Mathewson was at his bedside when the end came. She had been with him constantly since falling health compelled him to give up his duties as president of the Braves. Mathewson also leaves a son, Christy Jr., who is a student in college.

Began at Taunton. Mathewson broke into professional baseball with the Taunton (Mass.) club of the New England League in 1898, receiving a salary of $30 a month for his first season. He lost his first start by a score of 6 to 5 to the Manchester (N. H.) club. During the season he won but two and lost nine games, lack of control—fault he did not overcome for several years—handicapping his effectiveness.

Mathewson, however, was not long in attracting major league attention. Playing with Norfolk, in the Virginia League, in 1900, he won 21 out of 23 games, and was obtained by the Giants, who turned

"Our Hitting Featured"—Goslin; Schenbergs Win Municipal Title From Engineers

Hard Smashes Gave Pirates Chance to Star in Field, Writes Outfielder—It Was a Great Game of Straight Baseball, Asserts Shortstop.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 8.—What surprised me in yesterday's game, which I am very glad to say we won, was the way our team clouted the ball. I had read so much in the newspapers about what hitters the Pirates were all the way down the line and how helpless we would be, that I almost got to believing it.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 8.—Well, the first game of the 1925 world series is over, but I'm not going to say "I told you so," although the result was no surprise to me. But the way it came about did, as I looked for the Pirates to do much more hitting, even against Walter Johnson, while I did not expect them to uncock some of the fielding plays which came at intervals.

STONEWALL JACKSON FAVORED TO WIN FAIRMOUNT FEATURE TODAY

Slow Track Is To His Liking; Senor Dangerous

Many Previous Winners Scheduled to Start This Afternoon.

FIRST RACE—Sophia Golden, first; Zoro, second; Dury Boy, third.

Fairmount Scratches.

SECOND RACE—Lon Shank, first; G. H. G. second; Dury Boy, third.

FOURTH RACE—Air Castle, first; Son of Tromp, second; Taylor, third.

SIXTH RACE—Amplena, first; Woodcock, second; Zoro, third.

SEVENTH RACE—Zoro, first; Woodcock, second; Zoro, third.

Weather cloudy, track heavy.

By Dent McKimming.

Stonewall Jackson, who has come to be regarded as one of the best runners in the entire collection of mudders at Fairmount, is favored to win the feature race of today's program, the fifth at 1:16 miles. He will have to be at his best, however, for Sequel, Ocean Current and Senor are all regarded as possible pace makers and Senor as a real threat.

General Gino, Froth, Antonia, Tippetty, Wicket, Uncle Jay, Fifth of Forth, Frankman and other popular favorites are among today's entries.

Since Hebert, leading jockey at Fairmount after 10 days of racing, "loses his bug" today. In plain English, Hebert loses his appetite for the five pounds today. One year ago, on Oct. 9, 1924, Hebert rode his first winner and his time as an apprentice jockey started then. During the period of apprenticeship a jockey is given an allowance of five pounds and as soon as he becomes a "journeyman" he has five added to his saddle.

Since Hebert weighs only 95 pounds with his tack, the five pounds added will not necessarily prove a great disadvantage.

May Extend His Time.

The stewards have under consideration the question of extending his time until Jan. 1, because of the fact that after Hebert had ridden his first winner, on Oct. 9, 1924, he did not ride a horse again until the following January. This presents an unusual condition which may merit an extension of his apprentice time. A decision in the matter will be reached today.

On his last day as an apprentice, Hebert yesterday rode three winners. He is only 19 years old and is regarded as a great prospect. He is under contract to W. M. Cain and his agent, the fellow who books his engagements, is George Burke, who also handles the affairs of Jockey J. Cohen, another leading apprentice. Cohen's apprenticeship does not expire until March 13, 1926. He is only 17 years old and is another of the most promising jockeys riding on any track.

Handicappers Can't Miss.

Attention has previously been called to the remarkable accuracy with which the Fairmount board of handicappers has forecast the result of each race. In the extreme right hand column of the official program, sold at the track for 10 cents, the mutual ticket number is printed in large type. This ticket number corresponds with the "tag" given each horse in each race by the handicappers. Thus, No. 730, lowest figure in the column, was rated as the best horse in the first race, 731 was second, 732 third, etc.

Pick Three Races Perfectly.

Yesterday, in addition to having at least two of every race in the money in every race on the program, the handicappers forecast the result of each race in the extreme right hand column of the official program, sold at the track for 10 cents, the mutual ticket number is printed in large type. This ticket number corresponds with the "tag" given each horse in each race by the handicappers. Thus, No. 730, lowest figure in the column, was rated as the best horse in the first race, 731 was second, 732 third, etc.

Track Handicappers Deal Only in the cold figures of past performance, tempered by the amount of weight carried, the distance, the condition of the track and any other mathematical consideration.

Pikers to Face An Undeclared Club Tomorrow

Southern Methodists Have Not Lost Game Since 1922.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 8.—Undeclared for two complete seasons, the Southern Methodist University Mustangs, 1923 Southwest champions and denied the title in 1924 through a pair of tie games, will meet their first stiff opposition of the present year here Friday when they tackle the Washington University eleven from St. Louis.

Coach Bob Higgins' squad is regarded as formidable by the local warriors who have worked hard in preparation for the contest. A veteran line and a green backfield will be sent into the fray against the Pikers. The graduation of the "immortal ten" wrecked the local machine, but a number of transfers enabled Coach Morrison to build a line even stronger than in 1924. He is regarded as a great prospect. He is under contract to W. M. Cain and his agent, the fellow who books his engagements, is George Burke, who also handles the affairs of Jockey J. Cohen, another leading apprentice. Cohen's apprenticeship does not expire until March 13, 1926. He is only 17 years old and is another of the most promising jockeys riding on any track.

No Good Passer This Year.

The Mustangs in the past have gained fame as a result of their aerial game. They passed their way to the championship in 1923 with a light, fast team. This year they lack a real passer and have taken on more bulk to make up the loss. The locals have played two games to date, defeating the Denton Normal team 48 to 0, and the Abilene Christian College eleven, 24 to 7. The fact that the Christians crossed the red and blue goal line is taken by some to mean that the Mustangs are not as strong in the line as in 1924, but the touchdown put across was not made through the line, the secondary defense was caught napping and a pass sneaked over.

Texas football fans will remember Coach Higgins, who brought his team to Texas in 1924 and lost to the coach of West Virginia Wesleyan. He should know the class of the red and blue and can figure out his lineup accordingly.

The Mustangs will probably take the game as follows:

Dog Dawson (185) and Ox Ker (200), at ends; Jim Magness, 192, captain, and George Watters (174), tackle; R. L. Watters (175) and Bill Vaughan (183), guards; Ford (180), center; Roy Bishop (160), quarterback; Cortmiglia (193), and Bill Visor (174), halves, and Wade (170), full.

Weather Hampers Purple.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Hampered by wet weather, Coach Glenn Whitelaw put the Northwestern football squad through a short scrimmage and spent the rest of the practice session in drill in the fundamental points of the game. Ralph "Moon" Baker, backfield man, limbered up his lame ankle in signal practice. He will not get into the scrimmage until the latter part of the week, but is an almost certain starter against Carleton College Saturday.

Iowa Given Hard Work.

By the Associated Press.

IOWA CITY, Ia., Oct. 8.—Coach Ingwersen put his Iowa warriors through a scrimmage with the freshmen in the first hard workout since the Arkansas contest. The practice used St. Louis and Illinois plays against the varsity. Ingwersen will spend most of the week working up a defense for plays of these teams.

Michigan Works Outdoors.

By the Associated Press.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 8.—The University of Michigan football squad worked outdoors yesterday by a cold, drizzling rain. As soon as the rain began Coach Toot ordered the men to the field house to prevent injuries because of slippery footing. Before going inside, the men were drilled on forward pass formations.

Billikens Morale
High as Hawkeye
Grid Game Nears

Team Will Depart for Iowa City, Tonight, Last Scrimmage Work Today.

Following their final scrimmage of the week today in preparation for their game with Iowa Saturday, the St. Louis University squad will be in their Pullman berths at 10 o'clock tonight and on their way to Iowa City shortly after midnight.
No turning of cheering students will be permitted, and a special train-load of about 400 students and alumni will follow tomorrow night when the battle starts.

Yesterday's scrimmage, both an offense and defense, was just as soggy field still hampering the Billikens variety which is hoped for a hard field Saturday. Coach Savage ran the men hard until early darkness set in and fortunately no serious injuries were recorded. The whole story being written in today's. This afternoon more scrimmage is on the program.

Pinnegan Scouted Iowa.
With Coach Jimmy Pinnegan, who scouted the Iowa-Arkansas game at quarterback, the freshmen will display Hawkeye formation against the varsity. Coach Savage ran the men hard until
early darkness set in and fortunately no serious injuries were recorded. The whole story being written in today's. This afternoon
more scrimmage is on the program.

Given the one circumstance of a playable field, the Billikens are confident of putting up a good exhibition of football against the Big Ten team.

Tram's Morale Is Good.
There is no trepidation in the home camp at the prospect of playing what is probably one of the Middle West's best teams, and provided no injuries result from today's work, the strongest lineup in several years will face the Iowaoutwitted in the line, but holding an advantage in the backfield, the locals stand a long chance of coming out on the winning end. Coach Savage will lead the team to do so.
The Billikens are confident of doing so.

Pikers Off for Game at Dallas

In trying to select the final three men who would complete the Washington University football squad for the game tomorrow with the Southern Methodist University at Dallas, Texas, Coach Higgins held practice today. The piker squad almost missed the train, last night. They made it with seconds to spare and arrived in Dallas at noon today. The three men who were announced at the last moment were Starkloff, Materna, and Ingram.

Jefferson Barracks

team, last year's Sixth Corps Area champions, are in the field again

Henry Hildebrand.

FOUR out of FIVE are caught

It's sheer carelessness to let pyorrhea cause trouble in your mouth. Yet your dentist knows that four out of five past forty, and many younger, suffer from this serious gum disorder.

It begins with tender bleeding gums. Soon the teeth loosen in their sockets and the poison spreads through the system, causing rheumatism, neuritis and other similar diseases.

Forhan's for the Gums is the simple, easy way to keep you out of pyorrhea's clutches. It's a pleasant dentifrice that firms the gums and gives the teeth a thorough cleansing. It contains Forhan's Pyorrhea Liquid which has been used by dentists for the last 15 years in the treatment of pyorrhea.

If used regularly and in time, Forhan's prevents or checks pyorrhea and so is an important safeguard to health. Begin today to use Forhan's night and morning as a wise precaution. All druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

CANDIDATES FOR SUPREME BENCH IN RACE EARLY

Judge Archelaus M. Woodson Now Has No Opposition but Other Democrats Consider Entering.

TWO REPUBLICANS MAY SEEK PLACE

David W. Peters and A. M. Seddon, Now Supreme Court Commissioner, May Be Candidates.

By CURTIS A. BETTS.
With Congressman Hawes' and Senator Williams' candidates for the Democratic and Republican nominations respectively for the United States senatorship next year, forcing the 1924 campaign far earlier than usual, the contests for the nominations for Supreme Judge also are beginning to take shape.

Though there are only two avowed candidates, one Democrat and one Republican, it virtually is certain that the nominations will not go by default and that in each party there will be several strong candidates.

Judge Archelaus M. Woodson, who is completing his second 10-year term, is seeking re-nomination. He began his campaign several months ago but recently has been sick and unable to be active either on the bench or in politics. While he has served with distinction, his age will be something of a handicap in a campaign for re-election. He will be 72 years old early next year, and if re-elected, would be 82 years old before the expiration of his term.

No opposition to Woodson for the Democratic nomination has been announced but among the lawyers known to be considering becoming candidates are three of the strongest Circuit Judges in rural Missouri: Judge Ernest S. Giant of Mexico in the Eleventh Circuit; Judge Charles L. Henson of Mount Vernon in the Twenty-fourth Circuit; and Judge Allen W. Walker of Fayette in the Ninth Circuit.

Judge Giant is 55 years old, Judge Henson 48 and Judge Walker 62. Each is serving his second term as a Circuit Judge.

For the Republican nomination, the prospective candidates at this time are David W. Peters of Jefferson City, Republican floor leader in the last Missouri House of Representatives, and A. M. Seddon of Kansas City, a Supreme Court Commissioner.

Seddon's duties as a commissioner are the same as those of a Supreme Judge and thus he has had experience on the bench. Peters is without judicial experience, though he served one term as Prosecuting Attorney of Cole County.

The Divine Lady

"The Divine Lady" is the story, partly fiction but largely based on fact, of Lady Emma Hamilton, the Englishwoman of lovely birth who became one of the best known and most talked about women in all Europe.

CHAPTER THIRTY-SEVEN.

HE rose at once, seeing Lady Hamilton through one of the windows, standing with Nisbet in the loggia. Her hand was on his shoulder, near as high as her own, and she was pointing to the sea. Her face in the shadow of a great straw hat. He lingered an imperceptible moment, for the attitude, her womanly figure in its flowing white, and the sweet laughing face brought his home so tenderly and touchingly before him after the weary storm-tossed months before Toulon, the solitary years at sea, that his throat constricted and in his quick emotional way a happy well clouded his eyes. He saw his wife, his Fanny, fluttering her handkerchief as he drove off to join his ship at Portsmouth, his old father standing at her shoulder. For a moment, this stranger woman was home to him, after all the sea loneliness.

What had he heard of her? He tried to remember, as he followed to Sir William's study. Of course the fleet gossiping on all the Mediterranean doing when the captains assembled at one another's or the Admiral's table for business as much as for pleasure. He remembered Lord Hood's speaking of Sir William Hamilton.

"A gentleman, if ever there was one, grandson of the Duke of Hamilton, but should be attending to the Jacobins in Naples sooner than collecting old vases. A her hobby well enough for a man in Pall Mall, but by the Lord, Sir, Naples is a perfect hotbed of vice; the very soil for the seeds of Jacobinism to fester in! The King of the Two Sicilies will be a broken reed, I can lean on when we come to close grips with the Mousseurs."

And then one of the Captains, laughing, "A man of taste other ways than in vases, my Lord. He married his mistress, the famous Mrs. Hart. They say he fell in love with her because there wasn't one of his ancient statues he could not represent with a white cloth about her."

And another: "I saw her in London, my Lord, at the opera when we were refitting at Portsmouth. A wonder—a regular, blue-eyed English beauty. For my part, I can't blame his excellency. The only way to secure a mistress's fidelity."

And Lord Hood with his long, lean face, summing up: "Why, sir, the worst of all ways for a man for it gives a bad woman security to befool him. And I would have you all to warn your officers if duty should call them to Naples that it has the name of being a sink of iniquity—every woman a wanton" (but his lordship used a Biblical term) "and every man a fiddler or a fool, and act accordingly in the giving of leave in the wardrobe and gunroom. All the same, be she what she will, Lady Hamilton is Ambassador and said to be as thick as thieves with the Queen of Naples—a bird of the same feather if all tales be true. And now, gentlemen, to business!"

And then the thing passed from his mind like a breath from a looking-glass. He had no reason to expect a visit to Naples for himself. But, with the surrender of Toulon, it came, for the Agamem-

non was a fast sailer and speed the essential. No thought of the story revived in him, thronged with great events and anxieties, until that moment.

Sir William was sitting at his bureau with a list before him which looked much more like a catalogue of objects d'art than a summary of the Neapolitan forces—but let that pass. Capt. Nelson knew quite as little of the former as Sir William of the latter, and might be mistaken. He was as formal as his youth and subordination demanded.

"Your excellency, I have made bold to ask a private word, for I understand we go to the palace shortly."

"Certainly, sir. I was about to send for you. Her excellency came in a moment since to say she had warned you that all real business is transacted with the Queen. I would have given you that hint this morning but 'twas impossible."

"I thank your excellency. But surely there could be no movement of troops without his majesty's sanction?"

"Naturally, sir, but you shall understand in strict privacy what his majesty is much under the influence of his brother, the King of Spain, who is in league with the French Jacobins. Consequently all news is obliged to go first, as it were, to the Queen, and then to the King, and then to the King."

Capt. Nelson considered a swift instant. Thought might be seen quivering over his plain nervous face and in his keen eyes, so much were the inward and outward man at once. He was got into the land of intrigue, for certain, and what was a sailor-man to do with it? No laying his ship broadside on to the King, and seeing his flag come slowly down the mast in answer to the guns. No outlass out and boarding with women and their petty intrigues and tempers and secrets. Better be plain with the Ambassador at the start. He mislaid his job.

"Your Excellency, I am no diplomatist, but a sailor. My business is to get the troops for my Admiral, else the last state of Toulon will be the worst. What, then, is my shortest road to this end?"

Sir William took a pinch of snuff and surveyed the eager war-worn young man with good humor.

"Sir, your shortest way is the Queen, and your shortest road to her through my Lady Hamilton."

"I guessed as much from Her Excellency's condescension, but—"

"There is really no 'but,' Capt. Nelson. I might have said it is the only way. The Queen herself will be anxious, even jealous about dispatching troops in the present state of Sicily. My Lady Hamilton, however, has unbounded influence with her and deserves it."

"Does your Excellency convey that I am to discuss the matter with Her Ladyship?"

Why She Can Turn Her Back

The "back treatment" as the modistes say, is used very effectively in the new coat models. Graceful folds, undulating lines break the flat surface of the back of the coat, and add an extra flare to the hemline. A charming illustration of the new mode is this fur-trimmed coat.

French, the language of the Ghouls, was impossible in present circumstances, not to mention that Capt. Nelson's French was the last of his achievements. Therefore, Sir William interpreted in mellifluous Italian.

"I congratulate our noble ally, His Majesty the King of England, and our fortunate selves on this great and auspicious victory," said the Queen. "It may be hoped it will be a mortal blow to these recourses of humanity. And the King through me begs Capt. Nelson to understand that no mark of gratitude will be lacking to him and his gallant officers and men. A gala performance at San Carlo has today been ordered in their honor and a banquet will be given tonight by the King and myself to the distinguished Captain and officers."

And so forth—Nelson bowed and listening with all his ignorant ears to catch the word troops. When would the hummy story and these people get to business?

She presented him with a snuff-box, a pretty sparkler enough, her own flattered face set in small brilliant eyes, and so they got out into the cheering streets again.

"And now for food and Her Ladyship!" said the Ambassador.

DO'S AND DON'TS FOR BUSINESS WOMEN

By NELLIE E. GARDNER

IF YOU HAVE A MIND—SHOW IT.

DON'T be a mouse. Its chief purpose in life is keeping as silent as possible, and, in the end, getting caught! Better be a peacock or a saraphone. At least the world is aware of its existence.

Meekness, humility and kindred traits sound well in rhyme or fairy tale. But they are out of fashion in business. This is the day of Personality—or, as our advertising would say, "Personality Plus"—whatever that is.

It is not enough for a business man or woman to be a machine, always turning out flawless work. Adding machine, linotypes are perfect examples of perfect machines. They are lazy, they never slow down, they never forget, and they never make mistakes. They show more brains than some people. But initiative, and daring to be different? How about the "touch"?

Some folks are about as human as a dumb-waiter. They work expected of them, and no more! And what do they get? How do you explain the rise to fortune and fame of some friends who started at the desks beside yours? Education—than yours. Ability to work—not half as hard! But didn't that ineluctable something that we call Personality? What? Consider them too aggressive, and possessing too good a sense of themselves? Didn't they get the rest of the world to think like the mouse-like woman in the office. She may be 15 and stay there until 50—but her coming or going makes no difference. Picture her self-confident sister, the woman whose presence is so strong that even though she may remain there only one before being snapped up by some keen, discriminating employer she leaves a lasting imprint upon that firm. Because of this within herself, she ceases to be Miss Typist Number So-and-so becomes that charming and clever Miss Jones.

Never fear being too aggressive. It is proof that you are dead or asleep. Personality that knows when to assert itself gets anyone into serious trouble. It frequently lifts you into the high position where you can write your check for more than six digits.

And who of us would hate that? Don't be afraid to speak your mind. Your employer will be glad to find you have one!

The Sunny Kitchen.

DECORATORS have turned their attention to the kitchen at last and with the idea of making it a more cheerful spot they are using the warmest colorings in known degree.

The pretty sunny kitchen is the one. The side walls painted in a warm color, the ceiling a lighter tone, and the woodwork of glossy white. The bricks of the range should be red marked off with white, and the floor is painted the same shade of red.

The floor of the sunny kitchen is the best rug in oval shape different sizes. For the curtains, use the corn-cobbed material, with yellow or white, with little pointed lambrequin across the top.

Next we bring in the furniture. The yellow and white coloring can be carried out in the selection of kitchen and food containers for sunny kitchen surroundings and small cost. It takes so little to change the whole atmosphere of a room.

Famous Women.

MARGARET MORE.

MARGARET MORE was the daughter of Sir Thomas More, Lord Chancellor of Henry VIII, the Bigamous Monarch. At the time of the Reformation and King's divorce and subsequent marriage with Anne Boleyn, Henry More, an ardent Catholic, should give his assent to marriage, which Sir Thomas refused on principle and law. He committed to the tower and there he died. Margaret, his daughter, undaunted by fear or danger, had a trusty servant row at nightfall to the bridge. She took the boat steady in the current and the servant climbed to the top of the precious head of the father and dropped it into the water. Margaret, who was in the boat, saw the head of her father and the head in the garden of the house. She was so much moved by the heroism of her father that she became the maintainer of the family.

Muffs Coming Back.

All the muffs out of camp have been made over before the furriers are open with their orders. They are going to be fashionable, but the real modish they must be. Those displayed in shops are extremely small, and they are not enough for practical use. They are smart and the furriers are showing things muffs with the new fur. They will probably be an adopted mode for the coming season.

YOUTH is to all the glad of life; but often it is not. It is not by what it is, but by what it escapes—Carpenter.

Memories come by diligence; they spring from economy.—

Personality is keeping as silent as possible, getting caught! At least the rest of the world is.

Will Clothes Win Him?

The diary of Sylvia Smartly, a modern society girl, who tests a time-honored means to attract the indifferent male.

By FLORENCE CLARK.

THURSDAY. DEAR DIARY: Paula came down to spend Sunday with me. Of course, I have heard nothing from Bob, but I had a six-page letter from Martin.

When the wrong man writes and the right one doesn't it's enough to give a girl what the doctors call a baffling ailment. And when a girl as proud as I am, or tight-lipped, or whatever you want to call it, and so much so that she can't take her best girl friend into her confidence, it's simply that much worse.

I tried to tell Paula, but somehow I couldn't. She'd simply give me a lot of cynical advice and spoil my spirit—what's left of it—entirely. SHE'S never been in love. No, I won't tell Paula.

I know Bob loves me, but he won't let out the reins. He won't say what I want him to say. And I don't suppose telling Paula will help any.

So we talked about clothes. Aunt Grace said, jokingly, that two lunatics could hold a more sensible conversation. Paula told me about her new clothes, and I told her about the ones I would like to buy, and so we jabbered half the night and looked at pictures in a fashion magazine.

Aunt Grace is all right, but she lives back in the days when a woman had two pairs of shoes and was satisfied.

Paula brought a stunning sport suit with her—bold du rose balbragan. Not extraordinary as to cut, but the color is divine, and the jumper is just the right length. Jumpers have to be short these days. Naturally, when skirts are short you have to like the jumper line or you'd all look like dolls with crazy little ruffles for skirts.

She wore a black and bold du rose bandanna around her hair, and when she drove off the seventh tee I thought to myself:

"Paula, you certainly do look stunning."

Children's Bedtime Story

By Thornton W. Burgess

Peter Looks Up Johnny Chuck

Who ever on any night doth sleep Will seldom suffer lack of sleep.

—Johnny Chuck.

Peter Rabbit had run over to the Old Orchard to see how Johnny Chuck and Polly Chuck were getting along. He found them taking a sun bath on their own doorstep and looking so fat that Peter wondered how they could breathe. Their children had left home to go out into the Great World and Polly and Johnny now had no one to think of but themselves. To Peter it had always been a mystery how they dared go to sleep and sleep all winter. He couldn't understand it.

"Why, when I sleep, I sleep with both ears open," said Peter to himself after he had thought things over. "At the least little sound I am awake. But those two go down into their bedrooms, curl up and sleep so soundly that they could be dragged out without being awakened. I should think that they would be afraid that Reddy Fox or Old Man Coyote would come in and eat them while they are asleep."

"Good morning Johnny," said Peter as he came hopping up. "You and Polly are looking just as fine as ever and a little fatter. I suppose you are making the most of the sunshine before going asleep for the winter. You folks puzzle me."

"How so, Peter, how so?" demanded Johnny Chuck. "By not being worried over going to sleep," said Peter. "Why should we worry?" Johnny asked, looking very much puzzled.

"Well," said Peter, "I understand you sleep very soundly." Johnny nodded his head. "What of that?" said he.

"I should think that you would be afraid that Reddy Fox might come and find you while you are sleeping that way," said Peter. Johnny shook his head. "I don't worry about that at all,"

said he. "I've lived a long time and Reddy Fox has never been in while I've been asleep."

Peter grinned. "You wouldn't have lived a long time if he had," said he. "But if he hasn't, why hasn't he?"

It was Johnny Chuck's turn to grin. "You'll have to ask Reddy," said he. "Yes, sir, you will have to ask Reddy Fox."

"I suppose," said Peter, "it is because you have your doorway between stones and roots and the opening isn't big enough for him to get through."

"That may have something to do with it sometimes," said Johnny. "Still I have had a home right out in the open where it was easy digging and I spent the winter in that hole. Polly there has done the same thing. No, Peter, we don't worry when we go to sleep. The only time we worry is when we are not fat enough. But we won't have that to worry about this year. If Polly gets much fatter she won't be able to see."

"Polly isn't any fatter than you are," declared Peter. "I'm almost afraid to sit side of you."

"Why?" demanded Johnny. "For fear you'll blow up," said Peter.

Johnny tried to laugh, but he was so fat the best he could do was chuckle. "It won't be long now," said he, "before we shut ourselves in."

"What do you mean by shut yourselves in?" demanded Peter quickly.

"Oh," said Johnny, "that's just my way of speaking. What I mean is that it is almost time for us to retire for the winter. I find I'm getting too sleepy these days that it is all I can do to keep awake at all. Really, Peter, you ought to try spending the winter as Polly and I do. It would save you a lot of worry and discomfort."

"And I'd lose a lot of fun," declared Peter. "Well, so long, Johnny. I'll try to see you again before you go to sleep for the winter."

October 8, 1361—564 years ago A judicial combat between a man and a dog occurred in Paris. M. Montdidier, a French gentleman, while traveling through a lonely forest with his dog, was murdered and buried beneath a tree. No clue to the crime was found until one day, when sighting the Chevalier Macaire the dog attacked him thus arousing suspicions leading to his arrest. The King ordered a trial by combat and space being marked off at Notre Dame, the man was provided with a cudgel, and the dog with a sack to which he could retreat or spring from. But skillfully avoiding the blows of his adversary, the dog sprang to his throat, and then and there Macaire confessed his guilt before the King and his court.
